

RANDY GOLD has started all of this year's games at quarterback for California. He has been compared with Joe Kapp, a Cal great of recent years, and should have an interesting battle with Dave Grosz in Saturday's game.

Ducks favored against Cal in Berkeley clash

Cals Golden Bears (0-4-1) and Oregon's Webfoots (4-1) renew an old football rivalry tomorrow afternoon in Berkeley's Memorial Stadium with the Ducks of Len Casanova a ten point favorite.

CAL PRESS releases make much of the Webfoot speed in the backfield and the sizeable lineup in the forward wall.

The Bears have reason to fear Oregon speed since it was speed that was largely responsible for the Ducks' 20-18 win over the Bears at Multnomah Stadium last year.

Although this year's Webfoots won't be as strong as the aggregation that went up against Cal last year, in all probability it will be more than enough to be representative.

California lost several key starters from its veteran line of 1959 including Pete Demoto, Pat Newell, and Andy Segale, and figures to be weaker than the Bear squad that won two and lost eight last year.

IF THE BEARS of Marv Levy are weak in the line, however, they are more than adequate in the backfield.

Here the veteran trio of Steve Bates, Bill Patton, and Walt Arnold return to provide plenty of power and speed to get through those holes if and when the Cal line opens them.

But it is junior Jerry Scattini who may bear the most watching in the Webfoot secondary.

The slippery speedster has already broken loose for 191 yards and is the leading Bear rusher behind Bates.

The most publicized member of the Bear backfield is a sophomore quarterback named Randy Gold, who many Berkeley observers say resembles Joe Kapp.

The sophomore signal caller has been among the nation's leaders in passing and total offense this season even though he suffered an off day last Saturday against USC and saw his season completion record "slip" to 56%.

THE BEARS also feature a strong punter in sophomore right guard Roger Stull, who is averaging over 41 yards a kick. Stull's punting was one of the main reasons the Bears were able to contain Army, USC and Notre Dame as long as they did.

But the consensus is that the Webfoots will have too much speed, depth and size for the Bears to cope with.

Coach Casanova and his staff will be running into a new Bear offense for the first time in four seasons.

The Bears have installed a winged T under new head coach Marv Levy. It replaces the modified split T offense that departed coach Pete Elliot used from 1956 to 1959.

AS FOR THE DUCKS, they'll be going with the same cast that defeated Washington State last

Beavers meet Washington in crucial contest

Washington and Oregon State, two of the West's finest teams, clash Saturday afternoon at Multnomah Stadium, in Portland.

BOB HIVNER, senior from South Gate, California, will open at quarterback for the Huskies. He replaces All-American Bob Schloredt who suffered a broken collarbone in last week's game with UCLA.

Hivner has played very well as an understudy to Schloredt. He has passed for 211 yards and three touchdowns in completing 10 of 13. He has punted for a 37.2 yard average this season.

End Pat Claridge is the leading Washington receiver with 7 catches good for 118 yards. The Husky running attack is led by sophomore speedster Charlie Mitchell and senior Ray Jackson.

OSC GOES into the contest with a 4-1 record. The Beavers only loss came at the hands of Iowa, this week's top ranked team in the nation.

Sophomore tailback Terry Baker, who last week broke an OSC record by racking up 284 yards against Idaho, is the key man in the Beaver offense. His replacement, Don Kasso, has been injured and may not play.

A Rose Bowl bid could go to the winner, so both teams should be up for this one. Northwest teams always try hard against the "high and mighty" Big Five and Oregon State is no exception.

Betas drop ATO in close Intramural battle

Beta Theta Pi insured themselves a berth in the final round of this year's intramural football play-offs Thursday afternoon by downing Alpha Tau Omega in what was undoubtedly the most exciting IM game of this year's schedule.

Four quarters of hard fought football action were climaxed in a "sure kill" overtime by a winning pass from Beta quarterback Bob Kettner to teammate Jim Endicott.

THE BETA'S and ATO's were evenly matched throughout the game and neither team could score or gain more than two first downs against the other's strong defensive units.

At the end of regulation play with no score and an even number of first downs apiece each team is given four plays from the fifty yard line. The team gaining the most yardage wins the game.

With this situation, the ATO's put the ball in play first, and piled up a total of 12 yards.

ON THE BETA'S first two plays from scrimmage, an ATO line of Tom Bryant, Jim Coleman and Paul Swabe, stopped them for no gain. On the third try the Taus caught Beta quarterback Bob Kettner for a two yard loss.

This left the Beta's one play to pick up the needed 14 yards, and more to win.

On this final play, Kettner faded to pass and threw to Jim Endicott who was waiting sixteen yards downfield. Endicott and three ATO defensive backs went into the air for the ball, but it was Endicott who came down with it. And along with the ball, a Beta victory.

The Beta defensive line, spearheaded by Earl Lasher, Darl McAllister, Steve Cook and 240 pound Berkley Holman have gone through IM action thus far without surrendering a single point. The offensive unit has tallied 71 points.

After the tilt, a brawl broke out between the members and supporting spectators of the two teams. According to reports, many of those present, including the referees took blows, and many were knocked down in a fight the likes of which has seldom been seen on an Oregon athletic field.

IN OTHER IM play yesterday, Stafford defeated Phi Kappa Sigma and earned the right to face Delta Upsilon Monday in the semi-finals. Stafford still hasn't been scored against, and have picked up 63 points. The DU's have also stopped all attempts on their goal line.

Emerald staffers try again

Another ten tough games are on the slate for this week end as the Emerald sports staff goes at it again, attempting to catch co-leaders Larry Kurtz and Al Hynding.

After a successful week last Saturday, and with their spirits boosted, the staff will be out to move their averages farther above the dreaded 50 per cent mark.

Below are this week's forecasts.
