

Nine Ugly Men In Race for Title

The winner of the Ugly Man contest, part of World University Service Week, will be announced tonight during a fish-bowl mixer, according to Carol Stout, chairman of the drive.

NINE finalists for the contest were announced Thursday evening on the basis of amounts contributed to the drive in their names. Leading with $65.69 contributed is Anatole Square, subject of week-long efforts to identify her.

In second place is Tom Buckley with $63.53 followed by Dick Sorenson, $62.95; Brent Smith, $57.42; Doug Van Zanten, $49.39; Gary Giannini, $38.67; Larry Brooks, $37.66; Bill Powers, $33.04; and Ralph Towner, $32.62. The Ugly Man contest had netted $926 through Thursday night.

NOT SO successful, according to Chairman Stout was a wishing well located on the porch of the Student Union. Results of the wishing well have not been tabulated yet, but according to Miss Stout "They haven't been good."

Tonight's mixer will begin at 8 o'clock.

Co-op...

derheit to bring the 1920-constitution up to date.

THE ARTICLES of incorporation were amended by providing for perpetual existence, membership qualifications, distribution of refunds on sales, and distribution of surplus to the University on dissolution or liquidation.

Amendments to the by-laws provided for a specific time for the annual meeting and limitation of purchases to members. The elimination of the executive committee, indebtedness limitation, dividend provisions and distribution or dissolution was enacted.

THE PRESIDENT of the University will be requested to appoint an advisor to the board of directors and invited to attend board meetings.

Described by Co-op manager Jerry Henson as a "healthy meeting, with interest better than in years," the members did not "just come to make nominations" this time. Questions concerning store policies were addressed to Board President Gary Rothenberger.

One member wanted to know why candidates for offices were not present and where their platforms were. The only answer Rothenberger could give was to call the candidates if anyone was interested in the candidate's personal qualifications.

A QUESTION was raised on the "high prices" of books. Henson answered that the publishers set the prices, and that they are uniform throughout the nation.

To the inquiry of the whereabouts of the annual report and reports of the Co-op's financial standing, it was pointed out that the reports are not issued until the end of the fiscal year, so no report is available yet for this year. The reports of past years are available, however.

Henson noted that Oregon is the only school in this area that has a 10 per cent refund; others refund less than this.

YWCA to Sell Flowers for Moms

The annual senior breakfast sponsored by the YWCA is being held on Sunday, April 30 at 8:45 a.m. at Wesley House. All seniors are cordially invited.

Miss Ruth Shimm, a staff member of the National Board of the YWCA, will be the guest speaker. Miss Shimm has been active in the YWCA in both volunteer and professional areas since her high school years.

In addition, the Casual Colony of Eugene will be sponsoring a fashion show. The models will be girls chosen from the different living organizations on campus.

Committee chairmen for the senior breakfast include general chairman, Dinah Campbell; food, Barbara Glidden; decorations, Ginny Clark; fashion show, Anne Sause; invitations, Diane Kuggel and Carol Christensen, and publicity, Nancy Erland.

Froebe Granted Fellowship at NYU

President of the University of Oregon Law School student body, Gerald A. Froebe, has accepted a teaching Fellowship at New York University Law School for 1961-62.

Froebe, who is student editor of the Oregon Law Review, will graduate from Oregon in June with a bachelor of law degree.

He will be working at NYU toward a master of law degree in taxation and corporation law. He is a graduate of Oregon, having received a bachelor of business administration degree here in 1956. During this year he has placed on the honor roll for his class.
