

Dukes Selected For Yell Squad

The ASUO Senate approved Thursday night the recommended yell dukes for next year. Ted Maler, Delta Tau Delta, is yell king.

Job Opportunities

Interviews for positions at Garden Grove Union High School, Garden Grove, Calif., will be held on Wednesday, May 17.

Positions are open for English, math, instrumental music, girls' PE, business education, special education, homemaking, industrial arts (wood), and foreign languages (French, German and Spanish).

Jefferson Union School District of Santa Clara, Calif., will hold interviews for Kindergarten, fourth grade, math-science, remedial seventh and eighth grade, special education (mentally retarded) and school psychologist positions.

Interviews will be held on May 17.

SUMMER job openings listed with the Student Employment Office in Emerald Hall this week:

Lifeguards and swimming instructors for the Portland area; applicants should have W.S.I. or at least Sr. Life Saving Certificates.

Management trainees for an optical company. The summer job will be in the Eugene area; juniors majoring in business administration or liberal arts, interested in sales, office management, are preferred; permanent location after graduation could be anywhere on the West Coast.

Jazz Festival . . .

ate that if a program is a gamble it should be scraped for a safer one. Surely this kind of attitude will stifle the growth of the Student Union's program, and, more importantly, will stifle the intellectual and cultural growth of the individual student.

The jazz festival would, it is likely, give a national prominence to a university that has recently been noted for its smutty stories and flurries of student picketing and that noted only within a limited area.

SOME at the University would like to see the University be established as the art center of the Northwest. (Please, no nonsense about jazz not being a legitimate art form.) This might be the beginning of the beginning of the establishment of such a reputation.

It is unfortunate that the first horn of the festival may never be blown because of the spirit of adventure of certain student and faculty groups.

World News IN BRIEF

Conference Delayed

GENEVA (UPI) — A dispute over the seating of Communist Pathet Lao rebels has delayed the Geneva peace conference on Laos until the start of next week.

Secretary of State Rusk has arranged to talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko today in an effort to settle the seating dispute.

Support Pledged

SAIGON (UPI) — The president of South Viet Nam says the U.S. has pledged its total support to help in the battle against Communism in the strategic nation.

The statement came after a round of talks with U.S. Vice President Johnson.

U.S. Accused

MIAMI (UPI)—Havana radio said today a U.S. aircraft carrier launched five jets and fired several shots inside Cuban territorial waters.

The U.S. Navy says its only carrier in the area was well beyond the territorial limit during maneuvers and carries no jets aboard.

Merger Still Stands

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board has refused to reconsider its approval of the merger of United and Capital Airlines into the nation's biggest airline.

The CAB also turned down demands by Northwest and Delta Airlines that it delay the merger 15 days so they could challenge the merger in court.

Grants to England Now Available

Application forms for Marshall scholarships for study in England are available from Roland Bartel in Room 103, Johnson Hall.

These are two-year scholarships for study in any university in the United Kingdom. They are sponsored by the British government in appreciation for the American aid following World War II, Bartel said.

The scholarships are open to any man or woman who will have received his bachelor's degree by this June. The maximum age limit is 25, but married students may apply.

Twenty-four of the scholarships are given each year. Further information may be obtained from Bartel.

Infirmiry

Museum Friends To Hold Dinner

The director of the Phoenix Art Museum, Forest M. Hinkhouse, will speak at the annual dinner of the Friends of the Museum May 15.

His topic will be "A Dynamic Museum in a Dynamic State."

Hinkhouse, an author and lecturer as well as director of the Phoenix Museum, has studied at Coe College, the University of Mexico, Harvard University and New York University. In 1952 he received his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Madrid.

The dinner will begin at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. The cost is $7.50 per person. Tickets for Friends of the Museum and their guests may be obtained from the museum. Italian food will be served.

The two painting exhibits will be displayed in connection with the dinner. The second exhibit, on loan from the San Francisco Museum of Art, will be at the University Museum.

Honorary Takes 14 New Members

Alpha Kappa Delta, national sociology honor society, initiated 14 undergraduate members in a ceremony at the Student Union.

Dean Robert D. Clark of the College of Liberal Arts awarded membership certificates to the new initiates.

Two of the initiates, Dee Staats and Eileen Hogan, were recipients of the National Science Foundation's newly established undergraduate research participation program grants in sociology.

Others initiated were Linda Blakely, Shelby Burgess, Carol Friedrich, Diane DuFault, Sandra Johnson, Katherine Knowlton, George A. Kuhn, Susan Lathrop, Zola Peterson, Patricia Reinecke, James Sittser and Marina Vellou.

J-School to Hold 'Family' Banquet

Winners of the largest number of scholarships and awards ever offered by the University of Oregon School of Journalism will be announced Tuesday, May 16, at the annual journalism "family dinner."

The dinner, scheduled for 6 p.m., in the Student Union, is for all journalism majors and pre-majors and their families and School of Journalism faculty.
