reported to President Kennedy on the outcome of initial talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko.

The favorable report is understood to be one of the reasons Kennedy is considering meeting with Gromyko in Washington during the week.

Defeat expected

NEW YORK CITY (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk believes the U.N. will defeat the Russian request for a three man directorship to replace the post of secretary general.

Rusk was U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's guest on a new weekly television show.

Revisions indicated

BURGOS, Spain (UPI)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco says Spain will "maintain her relations" with the U.S. but that a revision of treaties might be necessary.

Lecture notes . . .

this year or with Associated Student Body President Dan Williams.

HAWK SAID he would have a number of questions about such a project.

"If students can find short cuts, is it acceptable to do so? I think we have to do some soul-searching as to what methods good students should use. A student might miss part of the learning experience," Hawk said.

Hawk also questioned the competency of the note taker.

HAWK SAID that since Smith distributed flyers he had "no design for deceit."

Kester Svendsen, head of the English department, called the scheme "a fine idea, it's quite all right with me."

HE ADDED, however, that students were "foolish to pay money" for notes.

"The effect will be that in large lecture classes students will be able to cut and keep up the work." Students will be "missing something but if they can cut the mustard when it comes time for a quiz, hurrah for them."

"The Department of English has no objection whatever," Svendsen felt there was "nothing unethical" in such a practice.

"If students prefer reading recorded notes to going to class, it's their business," he said.

W. O. Shanahan, head of the history department, said that using such notes was "a gross misunderstanding of the nature of a class."

Shanahan made three points about the sale of transcribed notes:

(1) It is "a questionable moral practice on the part of Mr. Smith."

(2) "Students are unquestionably being cheated because the text and references in the text undoubtedly contain more and better information than those notes. The notes are inferior versions of those handbooks to help students cram for college courses. They are buying a very inferior short cut. I don't condone taking a short cut at any time, and buying an inferior one is to be deplored."

(3) "It is an unfortunate symptom of the readiness of students to identify a class with just gathering information." The fruitful study of history consists in not only learning information, but in "interpreting and evaluating it."

The notes do not foster "a deeper and more mature intellectual attitude toward this body of information."

Troops move to base

BIZERTE, Tunisia (UPI)—French troops who captured parts of the town of Bizerte last July began moving back to the naval base.

There were no incidents and under the terms of an agreement signed Friday, the French agreed to leave the town to the Tunisians and keep the base.

Bargaining begins

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers and Ford Motor Company faced their first night bargaining session Sunday.

Both sides are hopeful they can reach a new contract agreement before a Tuesday strike deadline for 120,000 workers.

China celebrates

TOKYO (UPI)—Peiping radio reports one half million Chinese marched in a "civilian parade" celebrating China's achievements in the past year.

But the broadcast monitored in Tokyo failed to mention the famine that was reported to have swept the country killing thousands.

Hurricane watch up

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI)—Tropical storm Frances is in the eastern Caribbean sea and a hurricane watch has been ordered for Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

The sixth storm of the season, with wind gusts of 50 to 60 miles an hour, is reported about 235 miles southeast of San Juan.

Pres. to address press conference

University of Oregon President Arthur S. Flemming will be a guest speaker at the Oregon High School Press Conference which opens a two-day session on the campus Oct. 13.

This conference is to help students put out better newspapers and yearbooks. They will hold 66 meetings, 13 of which will be discussion groups with students participating on the panel. Meetings for journalism teachers and advisors will also be held.

Included in the more than 20 speakers from four states will be Willard Eberhart, Oregon manager of United Press International, who will speak at the opening luncheon Friday, President Flemming at the banquet Friday evening, and Jack Jarvis, staff member of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, at the closing luncheon Saturday.

The Oregon Scholastic Press and the University of Oregon School of Journalism sponsor the conference.

U of O receives Aetna Life grant

The University has received a grant of $50 from Aetna Life affiliated Companies under the company's new aid to higher education plan.

The University grant was part of a total $34,000 being distributed by the companies this month to nearly 200 institutions throughout the country.

THE $34,000 represents the company's matching gifts for contributions made by employees and their wives during the year.

KWAX names staff positions

New staff positions for the University radio station, KWAX, were announced Friday by Dr. John R. Shepherd, faculty advisor, and Mike Kramer, program director.

The new staff members are: Jerry Savin, chief engineer; Beth Perry, music director; Frank Griffiths, news director; Lowell Slick, sports director; Bob Wolfsohn, publicity director; Dian Ginter, head librarian. Positions are still open for an office manager and assistant.

KWAX is an FM station, operating at a frequency of 91.1 megacycles, and offers the Eugene area music programs from 5 p.m. until 12 p.m. Monday through Fridays, and 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Saturday. Campus and regional news coverage and a variety of features are also programmed.

For the benefit of students who do not own FM receivers, converters have been installed in Carson, Earl, and Straub halls, enabling residents of these buildings to pick up KWAX programs on their AM receivers at 880 kilocycles. A converter is also planned for Hamilton Hall in the near future.

DURING the summer, the KWAX record selection was increased with a collection of 100 new albums, featuring such artists as Jackie Gleason, Percy Faith, Erroll Garner, Les Elgart, and others. These will serve to augment an already extensive collection of classical works.
