

Student receives YMCA grant

One of three of the winners of the national John R. Mott Fellowships for advanced training of YMCA executives is a graduate student at the University.

HE IS Richard Ortmeier, who is studying toward his masters degree in the School of Business Administration.

The Fellowships are awarded by the national John R. Mott Fund, established through the YMCA from gift contributions throughout the world. This scholarship fund of over $1,000,000 is administered by a national committee. Chairman of the committee is William C. Jones, dean of administration at the University.

Professor writes business book

The structure and functions of the American contemporary enterprise system are illustrated in a new text written by Stanley C. Vance, H. T. Miner Professor of Business Administration at the University.

The text, "Industrial Structure and Policy," published by Prentice-Hall, Inc., presents the enterprise system and shows how it affects the social, political, and economic future of this country. Certain outstanding business and economic policy factors are treated in a summary discussion in the text.

Vance has previously written three other books. They are "American Industries" (1955), "Industrial Administration" (1959) and "Management and Decision Stimulation" (1960).

THE FELLOWSHIP program is a new venture for the committee, which has awarded numerous scholarships.

Under the new program, the fund is awarding stipends to pay the full living expenses for one year of outstanding executives in the YMCA. These stipends will enable men with families to cover living expenses while attending American colleges or universities. The objective is to develop key men in the YMCA movement.

THREE RECIPIENTS were selected by the committee for the first awards. One of them is a graduate student in psychology at Columbia University. One is a doctoral candidate in physical education at Boston University. Ortmeier is the third.

Ortmeier is on leave from his post until June. By then he will have completed course work for a masters degree in personnel and management.

ORTMEYER is married and the father of two school-age children. His wife, Carolyn, is also a University student. She is taking education courses with a teaching career in mind.
