

World affairs speaker slated

World Affairs Week will officially begin Monday evening, Nov. 6, with James J. Wadsworth, formerly US Ambassador to the United Nations, speaking at 7:30 in the SU.

BEFORE HIS appointment as Deputy United States Representative to the UN, Mr. Wadsworth served in a number of federal government posts. He was Deputy and later Acting Administrator of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, and Director of the Civil Defense Office of the National Security Resources Board. He served as American Senior Representative on the United States-Canadian Joint Civil Defense Mission and was Special Assistant to the Administrator of the Economic Cooperation Administration for two years.

Currently president of the Peace Research Institute, Wadsworth is thoroughly familiar with the multi-faceted problems of disarmament. From 1958 to 1961, he was the US representative on disarmament, in which capacity he acted as chief negotiator for the US in international discussion on disarmament. In 1956 Wadsworth was chief of the US delegation to the conference which drafted the Statute of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

THE PEACE Research Institute of which Wadsworth is now president initiates research on such questions as the technical problems of disarmament, and decision making in government as it affects peace and war. The development of improved dispute settling mechanisms, and psychological and social factors in peace strategy are other problems concerning the Institute.

IN HIS LONG and distinguished service in the UN, Mr. Wadsworth earned world respect for his untiring efforts to achieve universal and lasting peace among nations. Wadsworth was head of the American UN delegation in 1960 when Khrushchev made his "shoe pounding" speech to the General Assembly.

English appointed experiment rep

Thomas R. English, University freshman in Political Sciences, has been appointed campus representative for the Experiment in International Living at the University.

A pioneer in the field of international education, the experiment is a non-profit, independent, educational-travel organization. Since its founding in 1932 by Donald B. Watt, the Experiment has provided family living experiences and educational travel for more than 12,000 members. Every year hundreds of Experimenters come from other lands to the United States, and even a greater number of Americans visit over 25 countries on 5 continents.

English announced that applications are now being accepted for those students interested in working with the Experiment's campus staff. Applications may be obtained from the YMCA, room 318, Student Union.

Persons wishing further information about the Experiment may write or phone English at No. 40 Barrister Inn, University Ext 494.

ASUO petition deadline today

5 p.m. today is the deadline for all petitions for ASUO offices. Petitions must be signed by the SU Administrative office by that time.

All candidates are required to attend a meeting with ASUO Vice-President Jim Cloutier at 5 p.m. in the SU. The room number will be posted.

Ski Quacks plan overnight trips

The first meeting of the Ski Quacks Club, open to all University students interested in skiing, will be held Thursday.

Future events include a fashion show on Nov. 16, a "swap of ski equipment" night on Nov. 30, and a ski movie, for which a date has not yet been set.

One of several overnight ski trips has been planned for the early part of January.

Ski trips are offered to members at reduced rates, with lodging and transportation arrangements taken care of by the club. Regular meetings will take place on Nov. 9, 16 and 30.

Library seminar set for November

All graduate students are invited to attend a seminar on the use of the library to be held the second week in November.

The purpose of this seminar is to acquaint graduate students with the features of the University's open-stack library system. Specific problems will be discussed at this time, and any individual questions will be answered.

The exact time and place of the seminar will be announced later. Further information may be obtained from Mr. Morrison, acting director of the University library.

Letter to a Parent: "THE ATHLETE"

(No. 2 of a series of advertisements designed to make it easier to write home for money!)

Dear Dad:

Thanks for the best wishes card signed by all the Chamber of Commerce. You better tell them not to count on me being all America yet. I just barely made the second freshmen squad. Coach says not to worry about my athletic skolarship, even if I didn't make first team yet.

Boy these classes are tough. Some of the professors don't give a hoot if you have to spend three hours a day practicing ball. I know you told me if things got too bad to hire a tooter, and I might do that yet.

Speaking of scholarships and things like that, I heard about a new kind of check that a lot of the guys are using. They get it at First National, and it's called low cost. They say its easier to keep track of how much money is in the account. You could ask Joe at the First National Branch at home about it, and if it looks like a good deal to you, maybe you could open one for me and transfer it down here. For about a hundred bucks. Im going to need some extra dough anyway for the tooter. Let me know what you think.

Love,

Jack
