

SMILING PRISONER of vigilant sophomore Homecoming "tradition" enforcement crews is secondary education major Gail Guthrie. Gail is occupying the lock-up which traditions police keep handy to the court. Violations of Homecoming traditions include walking on the grass, not saying hello on the Hello Walk, not wearing a 50-cent Homecoming button, and believing that all this is nonsense. (Photo by Dave Sands)

Study sees success in Friendship Union

An evaluation of the American-Foreign Student Friendship Union disclosed some degree of success in contact between the foreign students and their American "buddies."

According to the evaluation, released by the Student Union Board, it is reasonably certain that 38 of the 54 students assigned as "buddies" made contacts.

THE PROGRAM, started this year, was headed by Kip Lombard, and operated through Kenneth Ghent in the foreign students office.

Several of those assigned as "buddies" did not return to school, and several of the foreign students did not come to the University.

A TOTAL of 174 American students signed up as possible "buddies." Out of more than 300 foreign students entering this year, about 150 were here last year, 25 or more are Canadians, and over 60 are transfers from other American institutions. Only the 54 new students were paired who definitely had indicated they would be attending the University.

In an attempt to evaluate the program, the Student Union Board sent questionnaires to 51 of the "buddies." Eight of these students did not return to school, and six of the foreign students did not show up.

OF THE OTHER 40 "buddies," eight met their assigned foreign student on arrival, 15 felt they had been notified of their participation in plenty of time, and seven were able to help during registration.

Included in the recommendations for next year's program are: 1) solicitation of "buddies" should start in April; 2) specific

(Continued on page 6)

Hart to deliver campus lectures

H. L. A. Hart, professor of Jurisprudence at Oxford University, England, will deliver two lectures to University students this week.

Hart, a lawyer and philosopher, will speak on "Punishment and the Elimination of Responsibility" at 4 p.m. today in Room 3 of Fenton Hall. On Wednesday at the same time, his subject will be "Acts of Will," in Room 202 of Chapman Hall.

Considered to be a leading philosopher in England today, Hart graduated from Oxford in 1929. He studied for the bar and practiced law for the next ten years and then returned to Oxford to teach philosophy. In 1952, he was appointed Professor of Jurisprudence.

Berlin march stopped

BERLIN (UPI)—West Berlin police exchanged tear-gas grenades with Communist police while breaking up a march on the wall dividing the city.

The Communists started throwing the grenades when 1500 West Berliner youths moved toward a crossing point intent on tearing down the newly-strengthened wall.

JFK, Adenauer meet

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy and German Chancellor Adenauer met for two hours Monday in the first of four cold war strategy sessions.

Spokesmen said they reviewed the situation in Berlin and Germany as they sought to devise ways to counter Moscow's threats to both.

Perjury charges asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House investigators have asked the Justice department to bring perjury charges against former National Security agency Personnel Direc-

Freshmen plan to paint 'O' today

Members of the freshman class will paint the "O" on Skinner's Butte at 4 p.m. today.

The "O" which is now orange, will be painted yellow in the traditional manner, apparently by freshmen sitting in some yellow paint, then sitting on the "O," and then sliding down it. Willing freshmen were told to wear their oldest clothes.

Men wishing to drive freshmen to the "O" are asked to wait in front of the women's dorms. Directions for getting to the site will be posted in men's dorms.

It was not reported if cars will be used to carry the paint-soaked people home again.

World News In Brief

or Maurice Klein, who quit under fire ten days ago. Probers say Klein testified falsely concerning his personal history record.

Investigation delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A senate subcommittee has postponed until January its hearing into charges that military officers have been "muzzled" in public statements.

Chairman John Stennis of Mississippi said it will be better to take more time and make full preparation for the hearings.

House struggle starts

CAPITOL HILL (UPI)—The first struggle in 21 years for the Democratic leadership of the house has begun.

Representative Richard Bolling of Missouri is out to beat Carl Albert of Oklahoma for majority leader, and Albert Rains of Alabama says he may challenge John McCormack for the speaker's post.

For Homecoming

Dorms open during holiday

Room will be made for those students who plan to stay in University dormitories during the Thanksgiving holiday.

The men's dormitories will be open throughout the vacation including Thanksgiving day, according to Walter Freauff, assistant dean of students.

WOMEN'S DORMS will be open all of Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Some but not all of the women's dorms will be closed Thursday, according to Helen Bierman, assistant director of dormitories.

Names of the women's dormitories which will be open all day Thursday will be announced.

MEALS WILL be served in the dormitories Saturday and Sunday but not on Thursday or Friday. Brunch and dinner will be served Saturday and breakfast and dinner Sunday.

Dormitory counselors and housemothers will be required to stay over the holiday.

CLOSING HOURS for the four day vacation are 12 p.m. Wednesday; 1 a.m. Thursday and Friday; and 2 a.m. Saturday.

Those who stay in Eugene over the holidays may be entertained by the Oregon-Oregon State football clash Saturday afternoon and by Pearl Bailey at a concert in MacCourt at 7:30 Saturday.

The Homecoming weekend will begin Friday night with a music parade through the campus to the site of the Homecoming bonfire. At the bonfire the 1961 Homecoming Queen will be crowned.

QUEEN candidates are Rosalie Brandon, Jean Harn, Karen Alm, Sharon Douglas, and Linda Wilder.

After the bonfire, the Strugglers, a sing-along group currently appearing at the Red Garter, will entertain at a rock and roll dance. They will alternate with The Vibratones, a rock and roll band.

The Pearl Bailey concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday precedes the Homecoming dance at 9:30 p.m. A sixteen piece band, the Starlighters, will play for the dance. University honoraries will tap during intermission.

THE HOMECOMING dance and concert are open to the public. The combination ticket for the concert-dance is $6. Concert tickets separately are $1.50 for student general admission, $2 for adult general admission and $2.50 for reserved seats. Spouse tickets are $5.

Tickets are on sale at the Student Union main desk.

Heads of living organizations were reminded by Homecoming officers that all signs must be up by 10 a.m. Friday.

Hearn compares school systems

Arthur Hearn, of the University School of Education, will be the featured speaker at a Professional School assembly to be held at 1 p.m. today in Room 127 of the Education Building.

Hearn will compare the English and American systems of public education at the assembly. Those aspects of education that he will pay particular attention to include athletics, discipline and examinations.

Hearn studied the English system of public education while on leave from the University last year.

The Professional Schools assembly is jointly sponsored by the School of Education, Phi Lambda Theta and Phi Delta Kappa. The assembly is open to the public.

Staff must report

The regular Tuesday staff of the Emerald is asked to report for duty today as usual. Emeralds will not be issued the rest of the week. The staff will work on the Homecoming issue to be distributed Saturday.

Williams sends OAC challenge on game result

ASUO President Dan Williams, joining in the spirit of Homecoming and the University's rivalry with Oregon State, has sent the following letter to George Abed, OAC student president:

"Dear George,

Cow (sic) are you? I am fine! Succumbing to the nonsensical burden of tradition, I shall commence to offer a challenge and a wager on the Civil War re-enactment of Nov. 25th, at Oregon's Great University. Needless to say, there are many channels by which we can release the competitive animosities between our schools.

May I suggest:

- band-hat stealing.
- turf-throwing.
- name-calling (with appropriate sneers and dirty looks).
- tractor races (with or without cultivator).
- tree-recognition.

But our athletic departments rid us of this responsibility by providing a yearly gridiron contest. Perhaps it is only fair to warn you and your students that we are anticipating an easy, lopsided victory for the "Mighty Webfoots."

It is for this reason that I confidently offer this wager. It would seem only reasonable that the Student Body of the losing school should appear at a Friday-at-4, garbed in the colors of the winning schools (undoubtedly green and yellow in this case) to lead the assembled jeering masses in a rousing chorus of the victorious school's fight song. Do you agree?

I invite you and your student body to enter into our Homecoming festivities by attending the Pearl Bailey concert and dance following. 'Twill be a sad day in Beaverdale—please brace yourself for this traumatic experience.

Facetiously yours,
Dan Williams.

Dean's private life noon forum topic

Mrs. Golda P. Wickham, Dean of Women, will speak on "The Private Life of a Dean of Women," at the fourth meeting of Fresh Forum today. The event will be held in the small dining room of Straub Hall starting at noon.

Fresh Forum is jointly sponsored by the Office of Student Affairs, Department of Dormitories and the University YMCA.

Those Freshmen wishing to attend may reserve places by calling Ext. 658.