

'making the rounds'

By LINDA HANSON
Emerald Staff Writer

After a few too many same-old-jazz weekends had gone by, we came to the conclusion that something ought to be done to make extra curricular life a little more stimulating.

And by means of that handy and loquacious old grapevine we found that we are not alone in our opinions. Of course, we realize that we aren't exactly living in an entertainer's mecca where you have only to cross The Bridge to see Mose Allison or The Limelighters. However, with a moderate amount of research, we have found that there are things to be done and places to be gone that are a little more exciting than a run-of-the-mill keg party. The fact is that it's possible to spend a pretty entertaining evening right here in our own little green back yard.

ARMED WITH, and prompted by, these bits of information we arrived at the following solution: a weekly section of this newspaper devoted to places and events of interest and accessibility. To wit (as a Thurber owl once said): Gassy things to do on the weekends.

As it happens, the question of what to do oughtn't to be too hard to answer this weekend. Since George Shearing and the Four Freshmen are going to be here Saturday night and if enthusiasm is any indication at all, it will be an "F" evening. In addition to George and his friends the UT is going to be active. "Come Back Little Sheba" opens Friday night and may also be seen next week.

BOTH OF THESE events are a bit beyond the ordinary scope of weekend happenings and in case you would like to make the entire evening something a little less ordinary we have a dinner suggestion. The Club Cross-town is a really nice place to go. They serve good steaks and drinks and the atmosphere is awfully nice. The Light is Dark enough.

Of course, it's possible that there are a few people who don't dig George and who may be interested in what else is going on. Jason Robards, Jr. is in "Tender is the Night" at the Fox. It's taken from the Scott Fitzgerald novel of the same name; it's set on the French Riviera and revolves around a husband and/or wife and/or lovers conflict. Jason Robards is an outstanding actor, as anyone who saw his portrayal of Hickey in "The Iceman Cometh" on Play of the Week this fall will surely testify. Big burly old Rock Hudson and Doris Day do their parts to perpetuate the modern day myth of romance, etc., in "Lover Come Back," now showing at the Heilig. And better-than-good old Alec Guinness is in "A Majority of One" now in the second week at the McDonald.

Should you be interested in yet another form of culture visit the Surrealist exhibit at the University Museum of Art. It closes Sunday, but we suggest that you see it before then because it may take a little while to recover.

SATURDAY morning at 11 o'clock on KERG the Metropolitan Opera will present Puccini's "Turandot." The story of an icy, vengeful princess who melts in the fact of love, is an opera well worth hearing.

And on that note we conclude this week's efforts. We hope that you can combine this information with a bit of imagination and have a happy Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

- There will be a Fish Bowl mixer Friday from 9 to 12 p.m. The dance is primarily for the high school IRL delegates, but university students are welcome.
- There will be a Bottom of the Bowl dance Saturday after the concert. Admission is 25 cents per couple.
- Interested members of the Dames Club (married students' wives) are to sign up for the decoration committee for the dance March 3. Call DI 4-4870 or DI 3-6831.

Jarboe Represents University at ROTC Conference

Cadet Colonel Daniel Jarboe, Portland, represented the University Air Force ROTC last week at a meeting of the National Arnold Air Society executive board at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama.

Jarboe was one of 38 senior AFROTC cadets attending the meeting from all parts of the country. They make up the National Executive Board of the Arnold Air Society. Jarboe is area commander of area H-2, which includes Arnold Air Chapters at seven universities in Oregon and Washington.

REPRESENTED AT the meeting was the Arnold Air Society's officially sponsored auxiliary, the Angel Flights.

The Arnold Air Society is an honorary national organization of AFROTC cadets. It is affiliated with the Air Force Association. It was founded in 1947 at the University of Cincinnati. Membership in the Arnold Air Society squadrons, located in nearly all the 187 AFROTC units in colleges and universities throughout the United States and Puerto Rico, totals around 5,000.

Women's Week Said Successful

"This year's Women's week was very successful compared to past years," according to Janice Nagata, AWS president.

"There was greater participation among women, necessary to its success. Although it could be improved, this year's program was a big step in the right direction."

Financially, the AWS project did well. The Pledge Auction made $547, the Heart Hop brought in $250, and the Hazel Schwering dinner collected about $108.

Alpha Xi Pledges Entertain Children

Children at the Children's Hospital School and at Sacred Heart General Hospital were presented with valentines and candy by the pledge class of Alpha Xi Delta.

Linda Galen, pledge trainer for the group, was in charge of the Valentine's Day project for the sorority.
