UO Swimming Club Sponsors Diving Championships Saturday

About 30 divers from Oregon and Washington will be here Saturday to participate in the first annual diving championships and diving clinic sponsored by the Oregon Dolphin Swimming Club.

DON VAN ROSSEN, UO swimming coach, said Thursday that he expected participants from the Cascade Swimming Club and Red Shield Swim Club, both from Seattle, Wash.; the Lane County YMCA-YWCA, Eugene; and the Grants Pass Swim Club, Grants Pass, as well as swimmers from the University.

The Oregon coach emphasized that this is one of the first such clinics sponsored in the Northwest. The event is one of several Dolphin Club projects intended to raise swimming and diving standards and interest, he added.

Five age groups will be competing in the championships: 10 and under, 11 and 12, 13 and 14, 15-17, and senior division. Only University swimmers will be participating in the senior division.

Starting time for the diving events is 10:30 a.m. and again at 3:30 p.m. Saturday in Leighton Pool. The diving clinic will be held beginning at 1 p.m. in Room 114 of the Physical Education Building.

The clinic phase of the one-day program is to include a series of talks using charts, loop films and movies of national diving champions.

VanRosen noted that divers will be judged on a ten-point scale. After scoring each participant, the judges will explain for the benefit of both the audience and the diver why he received the number of points he did. This is designed to help the participants improve.

Anyone interested in watching the diving events or the clinic has been invited to attend. There is no admission charge.
