

Committee to Assist In Mill Race Proposal

A steering committee is being formed to co-ordinate and evaluate the work of the University Development fund plan for a mill race recreation center.

Student funds will be used to improve mill race property. The funds will be co-ordinated by the steering committee which will evaluate the success of the program after a year. It is probable that students will be urged to sign their breakage fee refunds over to the program.

THE COMMITTEE, still in the planning stages, will be chaired by the senior student member of the Development fund. Other committee members will probably include the student body president, the Student Union board director, the chairman of the Senate committee on recreation, and others. The membership of the committee has not been finally decided.

ASUO president Neil Goldschmidt said yesterday that he favors the proposed steering committee. He had originally felt that the program should be handled through the Senate.

GOLDSCHMIDT HAD feared that the committee would be too disconnected from student affairs and would not be able to keep in contact with the committee's actions. "Students should have someone to complain to," and should know where the responsibility for the committee's work lies, Goldschmidt feels.

Bill Vertrees, SU Board Chairman, said that he felt the committee was a fine idea. Vertrees had felt that the administration of the development project should be under the SU Board.

Asia . . .

countries have continued to suffer in these conditions. While not capable of unorganized revolution to bring down governments, the agrarian masses have been a reservoir of mass power that could be organized and utilized by a communist elite. In this attachment to agrarian masses, Asian communists have been able to use effective methods to organize this mass power.

This constitutes an explanation of these problems; it does not offer any ready-made solutions. It rests upon the proposition that a problem must be properly stated and analyzed before a quest for solutions is possible.

Pacifist Beliefs To Be Discussed

David McReynolds of the "War Resistor's League," will discuss the "Neither Red nor Dead" issue today in a YMCA-sponsored Dialogue at 4:30 p.m. in the Bottom of the Bowl of the SU.

Also discussing the matter of international affairs will be Stanley A. Pierson, assistant professor of history.

Reportedly neither an argument nor a debate, the dialogue is designed to as to offer differing perspectives on critical issues of the U.S.-Russia relationship problem.

Showings Listed For German Films

Three German movies will be shown at 4 p.m. today, in the library Studio A. There will also be public showings at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The films are "Deutschlandspiegel" (German text dubbed in), "Leonardifahrt zu Tolz," the annual celebration of the feast of St. Leonhard in the Bavarian Mountains (with German text), and "Studieren und Probieren," a film about a drama school in Munich showing the development of the students.

Following the showing at 7 p.m. Wednesday, sponsored by the German Club, coffee and doughnuts will be served in the Student Union.

VERTREES FELT that the SU Board was originated to handle "this sort of thing" and should have charge of it. He re-affirmed, however, that he was happy with the present steering committee arrangement.

"To see any good from this drive, it must be continued each year with the proper governing body—not just evaluated from past records and files," Vertrees said. He commented that the Senate and that there would be almost an entirely new body to evaluate the program each year if it was left to the Senate.

"IT SEEMS to me that some faction is trying to manufacture friction between the SU Board and the Senate to get something for themselves," he observed. "Someone wanted the prerogative of this plan for the Senate and I, for one, am convinced that the Senate doesn't even want it."

"The (SU) Board won't get a chance to show its effectiveness until someone else gets the money," Vertrees concluded.

Final Enrollment Figures Released

Final 1962 fall term enrollment figures at the University show 9,621 students are registered at the University, an increase of nine per cent over the 8,850 who registered for the 1961 fall term.

The figures were released at the close of the period for late registration by petition. The final figure is only slightly above the estimate of 9,600 which had been made prior to registration.

The largest percentage increase was in the graduate class, which jumped to 1,589, an increase of 18 per cent.

Because of the increasing quality of incoming student, fewer students are "washing out" of the University. This was shown in the 16 per cent increases for the sophomore class, which has 2,768 students, and the junior class, which has 1,381 students.

The senior class totals 1,094, a five per cent increase, and the freshman class totals 2,624, a four per cent decrease. Special students total 165.

Men students increased by 8 per cent, to 5,763, and co-eds increased by 9 per cent, to 3,858.

Pigger's Guide to be Ready Friday

The Pigger's Guide, directory of students for the University, is on the press this week and will be on sale Friday.

The directory sells for one dollar and is being distributed at the Co-op, SU main desk and at a special sales table on the terrace of the SU. It contains the names, addresses (both home and campus), telephone numbers, majors and classes of some 9,600 students. A directory of faculty and staff comprises the colored section at the back of the book.

The cover of this year's Pigger's Guide adheres to the "pigger's" tradition that goes back to the story of "Homer," the young man who slipped out evenings "to see his prize-winning pig" (he said) whereas the boys all knew he was dating a girl. "Pigging" thus became the term for "dating" at Oregon.

Personal deliveries of copies of the directory will be made to departments upon receipt of inter-departmental requisitions. These requisitions should be in the Student Union Administrative Office (M101 Erb) no later than Thursday noon to insure delivery either Thursday or early Friday. The directory is published by the Student Publications Board.

Education to Hold Placement Meets

The School of Education will hold two special meetings this week. Those planning to teach or to assume an administrative position in the fall of 1963 should attend one.

The first of the meetings, intended for undergraduate students including elementary and secondary teaching candidates will be held at 4:15 p.m. today.

The second meeting is scheduled for 4:15 p.m. Thursday, and will be primarily for graduate students, those interested in college teaching or administration. Both meetings will be held in 127 Education.

The Oregon Student Education Association will sponsor the meetings which will be conducted by the Teacher Placement Office, for the purpose of distributing placement instructions and registration materials. Students intending to use the Placement services should attend one of these meetings.

Hebrew Class Slated By Israeli Student

A free class in learning the Hebrew language and Hebraic culture will be conducted by Tony David, University student from Israel, beginning this Thursday at 7 p.m.

Classes will be conducted on an informal lecture basis. No textbooks will be required as work will be done through the use of notes and mimeographed materials.

The class is being sponsored by the University Hillel Foundation. For further information contact Tony David or Ruth Nagel.
