In contrast, the Bears are riding fairly high on the season with an overall record of 10-4, but in Big Six action the Bears are riding a two game losing streak, and are currently holding down the third spot in Big Six standings.

Fresh from semester break the California cagers are returning to the maples with plans for closing the gap in the Big Six which separates them and league leading Stanford.

California defeated the Ducks 78-46 in the final round of the Far West Classic in Portland on December 29 when the Bears turned a close fought battle into a second-half romp. Although the final margin was 32 points the game was much closer than the score would indicate. The Bears held a nine point halftime lead which was quickly cut to six points by the Ducks with 15 minutes to go. After this point the Ducks went stone cold potting only 25 per cent of their fielders while the Bears got red hot and blazed away at a fantastic 61.3 per cent pace.

Oregon's starting lineup is going through another juggling act. Oregon coach Steve Belko has definite plans for starting Steve Jones and Glenn Moore. The other starting posts are still wide open, and Belko says he doesn't have the slightest idea who the other starters will be.

So far the combined performances of Jones and Moore have been the key to the Webfoot success. In the winning efforts, Jones and Moore have combined for a 33 point average between them. Jones is the leading Duck scorer with a total point production of 219 points for a 15.6 average per game. Moore is second with 174 points for a 13.4 average per game.

The Bears are led by Camden Wall, a 6-10 center. Wall, a junior, has returned to Cal cage action after a two year layoff. Another front-line performer, Jim Smith, a 6-5 senior, is filling the gap in previous Bear frontline problems. In only limited action last year, Smith scored 117 points and picked off 86 rebounds. So for this season Smith has posted a 15.5 average per game.

Friday night's tipoff time will be 8 p.m., and Saturday night's contest is slated to be televised in the Berkeley area.

High-Scoring Frosh Set For Weekend

Oregon's high-scoring, high-flying freshman basketball team expects to get back into its winning ways this weekend with a double bill against the Sweet Home AAU in Eugene and the University of Portland Frosh in Portland.

The Ducklings have compiled a six win, one loss record so far this season including a five game winning streak before they were upset by Claudia's of Portland.

Their record has been accomplished by the best scoring clip ever produced by a University of Oregon freshman basketball team. The Frosh are currently averaging 79.1 points per game and have scored 90 points or more in four of their games.

Flashy Jim Barnett, the high scoring guard, paces the Duckling's point parade with 156 points in seven games for a 22.3 average per game. Barnett is from Riverside, California where he was selected unanimously to the California Interscholastic Federation first team after his senior year in high school.

Barnett is expected to get plenty of help from team mates Dave Kafoury, John Franz and Bill Jennings.

Kafoury has taken over for the injured Rick Potter and has filled in very well as scoring help for Barnett. Kafoury has raised his average to over ten points per game since he took over for Potter.

Franz and Jennings, both forwards, also have averages in double figures. Franz has scored 80 points for an 11.4 average and Jennings has contributed 79 for an 11.3 rate.

These four along with center Gene Brockmeyer will start for the freshmen in both contests.

Not much is known about the Sweet Home AAU squad but the Portland Frosh figure to give the Ducklings plenty of "experience."

Led by 6'2" guard Ken Falkner and 6'7" forward Bob Wollmuth, the Portlanders have played a rugged schedule of AAU teams from around the Portland area and have done more than hold their own.

Other sure starters for the Little Pilots will be 6'6" center James Benjamin and 6'4" forward Ed Marz.

The Sweet Home contest will be held in McArthur Court at 8 p.m. Friday night and the Portland game will be in Portland at the Memorial Coliseum as a preliminary to the Harlem Globetrotters game.
