

Oregon Sweeps 2 From Washington

Oregon's trackmen are getting ready to defend their national title. Ask Oregon State's Beavers if you are a little skeptical.

Last Saturday, in a meet that figured to go to the wire, Oregon cut down the Beavers in relatively easy fashion, 80-65. Most of the Ducks turned in excellent performances and a lot of people were wondering what they would have done with a decent weather break.

Although it didn't rain during the meet, there was a lot of Oregon's liquid sunshine during the morning. Because of this the track was in poor condition.

It didn't appear to faze Mel Renfro though, as he had his best day of the year. First Mel took two broad jumps. He scratched on the first one and then sailed 25-6½ for a season's best. Next he made up a little lost yardage on the third leg of the 440 relay; then a little later on ran a 14-flat in the high hurdles, also his best time of the year.

Blunt Gives Strong Performance

Even with all of Mel's heroics, Dave Blunt could possibly be considered the hero of the day. First he started out with a one or two yard deficit in the 440 relay and came on strong to beat OSU's Lynn Eves to the tape by a yard.

Next Blunt turned in two outstanding performances in the 100 and 220, while winning both. He was clocked in 9.6 for the 100 and 21.5 in the furlong. His straight up running style reminds one of Harry Jerome. Real clutch performances and two excellent times on a poor track.

When talking about stars of the meet, Dave Steen's name has to be mentioned. Steen threw the shot 60-6 and won by quite a margin as expected, but turned in a truly clutch performance in the discus.

Stiff-Armed Discus Thrower

Steen has been limited to work with the shot because of an ailing elbow which hurts when he throws the discus. Saturday he taped up the elbow and threw stiff-arm so he wouldn't harm the tender joint. What did he do? He threw 160-plus to place second, and lost by only a foot. A rather demoralized Lou Fasano of the Beavers was the winner.

Oregon now has two 6-10 high-jumpers after Paul Stuber cleared this height on his third try. Terry Llewellyn won the event as he also cleared 6-10, but had fewer misses. Stuber seems to be rounding into the form which made him one of the top junior college jumpers in the country last year.

Keith Forman won the mile in the excellent time of 4:03.3. He was pushed by Beaver sophomore Morgan Groth who recorded his all-time best in finishing second at 4:03.9. Forman followed his usual pattern of running a yard behind the leader until the last 220 or so, and then sprinting away at the end.

Frank Misses 15 Feet

Marty Frank seems to be getting more consistent in the pole vault. He cleared what appeared to be 15 feet, but a measurement revealed the actual height to be 14-11¼. Bob Watson and Gary Moro took the other two places as they both cleared 14-6.

A high point in the meet for the Beavers was the showing of Norm Hoffman. Hoffman, who has run the fastest 880 in college ranks this spring, simply ran away from Ray Van Asten. Hoffman, who looks big enough to hold his own on the gridiron, showed why he's listed as tops in the nation.

Hoffman Beats Dutchman Twice

Then he came from behind to make up a three-yard deficit and win the mile relay going away. In both races he bested Van Asten rather easily. Coach Bill Bowerman said the big Dutchman "needs more work." He will get his chance for revenge when OSU and the Ducks tangle in a dual meet on Memorial Day at Hayward Field.

Some other outstanding performers for the Ducks were Lew Powell in the 880, Dave Crowe in the 220, Al O'Leary in the 440, and Gary Reddaway in the javelin.

Powell beat out Iain Colpitts of the Beavers for third place in the 880. This was a good effort for Powell, because Colpitts had a time previous to the meet that was a full second faster than Powell's.

Crowe ran a 21.8 in the 220 for his all-time best. This gave him second place over some pretty good Beavers.

Al O'Leary also ran his all-time best in the 440 as he finished second in 48.6. He was just beaten by Eves, who had to come from behind on the stretch. Eves' winning time was 48.5.

Gary Reddaway, subbing for the injured John Burns, took second in the javelin with a toss of 223-plus.

Half Mast

I sat next to a distinguished-looking young man at the Oregon-Washington baseball game last weekend and we got to talking about the Duck baseball team:

"If the Ducks have any flaws this year, what would you say they were?"

"You think they could hit with a little more consistency, huh? Well, I'd have to agree with you that Nosler is having his troubles at the plate, sir, but Sandy led the team last year with a .330 average and he was sick early this season, so I'd be willing to bet that he starts coming around pretty soon.

Fielding consistency?

"Too many errors? Look; I've watched them a few times this season and they've looked great in the field. Whoops; what's that? The seventh error this game. Well, I guess they're entitled to a bad day in the field once in awhile.

"Depth? It looks to me like they're stronger on the bench than in any year since I've been here. Leininger, Vetter, Dean, Banderas, or Murphy can all be used as utility.

"Well, how about the good aspects of the team? You like their hustle. I'm pretty impressed myself. 'Course, that's one of the aspects of a Don Kirsch team.

"You like Kirsch, too? The players love him. They'd do anything to win one for him. He's respected by all the coaches for his coaching ability. I'd say he is one of the best on the coast.

Ducks tough at plate

So you do like some of this hitting they're showing? Sure, Pettengill's got power. Look out; that's the third homer in the last two games for Fred. A lot of power for his size. Murphy, too. The Doctor takes his cuts like they're going out of style. Livingston doesn't have the power, but he's about the most consistent. Jensen's a little too inconsistent, but the potential's there. Look at that—a triple for Jensen. He's tough in the clutch.

"The best pitching staff in the Northwest, you say? I'll second that. Ager, Gallaher, McLeod, and Snow can really hum, can't they?"

"Speaking of Gallaher, he's the old man on the team, but he really talks it up out there.

"Say, sir, do you play baseball? You pitch, do you?"

"Does that mean you'll be playing for the Ducks next year? You're ineligible? That's too bad. How old are you? Four!"

Surprising how many follow the Ducks, isn't it?

Green Team Wins Grid Scrimmage

Larry Hill and Lu Bain did the running and Bob Berry and Terry DeSylvia provided the quarterbacking, as they led the Greens to a 24-6 win over the Whites Saturday in the second intra-squad game of the year.

Berry's 20-yard completion to end Dick Schwab set up Bain's 25-yard scoring run for the first touchdown. Berry left the game a few minutes later with bruised ribs.

DeSylvia's 15-yard strike to Bain and Bain's roll-out pass to Dick Imwalle preceded Hill's ten-yard score on a reverse.

Sophomore Tom Finucane's 30-yard pass to end Robb Haskins provided the Greens with their third score.

Guard Don Cadenasso's recovery of a fumble set up the White's only touchdown. Les Palm's plunge got their only six-points of the afternoon.

Dave Davis scored the Green's final touchdown on a five-yard scamper.

Oregon Bests OSU, Experts

Oregon's Ducks came up with some hitting power Friday to beat Washington, 10-0, and completed a two-game sweep as they edged the Huskies in an 11-inning game Saturday, 6-5.

The Webfoot batters jumped on three Husky hurlers Friday for 13 hits and lefty Arba Ager limited the Huskies to eight hits enroute to his second conference win of the season.

The Ducks opened their scoring in the second as H. D. Murphy led off with a sharp single to right-center, Jeff Allen walked, and Ken Jensen's triple drove in both runners.

Pettengill Hits Grand Slam
In the third inning, the Ducks exploded for six runs on six hits, including a 380-foot grand-slam homer by Fred Pettengill. Pettengill poked reliever Jim Mueller's first pitch over the centerfield fence for his fourth round-tripper of the season.

After Pettengill's blast, Allen singled and took second on a Husky error. Ager sent him home with a single to left field.

The Ducks tallied again in the fifth, and their last score came in the eighth on singles by Cal Dean and Pettengill, plus a hit batter and a walk to Allen.

The Huskies mounted their only scoring threat in the sixth inning on a pair of singles and a double, but Washington scoring hopes were cut down on fine defensive plays by John Livingston and Pettengill. Livingston made a perfect throw to the plate to catch Jim Largus, and Pettengill made a diving stop to limit Girard Stone to a single and save a run. Ager ended the Husky hopes by forcing Randy Ginsberg to roll out.

Ager went the distance in recording his fourth win of the season against only one loss.

Saturday was a different story, however, as the Ducks barely scraped past the visitors 6-5 in a game marred by 11 errors.

Oregon, which made seven of the miscues, tallied with one out in the eleventh, when John Livingston got the first hit off Husky hurler Jake Kupp since the fifth inning, stole second and took third on a throwing error.

The Huskies loaded the bases with two intentional walks. Pinch-hitter Rich Depew took two strikes and was hit in the foot, forcing Livingston in with the winning run.

Kupp went the distance for Washington, allowing only five hits. He struck out six while walking seven.

Dale Jansen, third of three Duck pitchers, was credited with the victory, after taking over mound duties in the ninth.

The Ducks drew first blood in the third frame, as Livingston led off with a base rap. He took second on an error and came in on Bob Porter's double. Porter scored on a throwing error, and Oregon then made it 3-0 on a bases-loaded walk.

Washington tallied once in the fourth and tied it up in the fifth on singles by Les Uehara and Stu Thompson, and Girard Stone's triple to right field.

H. D. Murphy belted the first pitch in the fifth inning over the centerfield fence to break the deadlock. Catcher Ken Jensen later singled in Fred Pettengill to give the Ducks a two-run lead.
