

For Peace Corps Volunteers

UO to Conduct Training Session

The University has concluded an agreement with the Peace Corps to conduct a training program this summer for a group of volunteers who will be assigned for two years in Nepal, University President Arthur S. Flemming has announced.

The agreement under a grant of $124,080 from the Peace Corps calls for the University to conduct an 11-week training program in Eugene for a group of 40 men and 8 women, to begin on June 21.

THE TRAINEES are now being chosen by the Peace Corps from applicants from all over the country. When they have completed their training, they will be assigned as volunteers in Nepal.

In Nepal the volunteers will assist the village and community development workers of the Nepalese government. These workers are engaged in a program to help the people of Nepal's 35,000 villages to help themselves towards modernization.

THE COUNCIL of these villages, called Panchayets, are taking the lead in community development with the assistance of the Nepalese Village Development Workers. The Peace Corps volunteers will work with them to show the people of the villages how to identify and solve some of their basic problems.

The Peace Corps Community Development Training Program at the University has been made the responsibility of the University of Oregon Institute of Overseas Administration. John Gange, institute director, has named Egbert S. Wengert, professor and head of the political science department, to serve as project director.

TO ADVISE the institute and to assist in shaping the program, President Flemming has named an advisory committee of faculty members with experience in Nepal and in the work of the Peace Corps, with Gange as committee chairman.

Members of the committee include Wengert; Thomas O. Ballinger, associate professor of art and education; Francis Dart, associate professor of physics; Clarence Hines, professor of education; Lewis Goldberg, assistant professor of psychology; Norman Sundberg, associate professor of psychology, and Hugh B. Wood, professor of education.

THE TRAINING program will emphasize language study, study of the culture of Nepal, community development, American studies and international relations, the characteristics of Communism, and appropriate technical studies.

In addition, the program will be designed to make the trainees physically and mentally fit for life in Nepal.

The University's interest in Nepal is based on the University of Oregon-Nepal education project of the 1950's.

AT THAT TIME, under a contract with the U.S. State Department and the International Cooperation Administration, several University faculty members went to the small Asian kingdom for advisory assistance, the Nepalese College of Education was organized, the new Tribhuvan University was planned, and Nepalese educators were trained on the Eugene campus.

The University was also chosen for the training program because of the experience gained under the political science department's program in the Philippines under a Carnegie grant to study community development.

Trapshoot Set Sunday By Games Committee

A trapshoot will be sponsored by the SU Games Committee Sunday in Cottage Grove.

Those taking part are to bring their own shotguns and shells. Transportation will be provided from the turnaround of the SU at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Interested students are asked to sign up at the main desk of the SU.

Band to Perform Outdoor Concert

The University concert band, under the direction of Ira Lee, will perform an outdoor band concert on the Student Union Fishbowl Terrace at 4 p.m. Friday.

FEATURED WITH the band will be one of the choruses from the School of Music. They will present selections from "H.M.S. Pinafore."

Band selections will include Latin-American music, V. Williams' "Folk Song Suite," Clifton Williams' "Symphonic Suite," and a trombone choir number.

Lee is director of the marching band and an associate professor of brass in the School of Music. Members of the concert band are mostly non-music majors who play for enjoyment, meeting twice weekly for rehearsals.

The concert is being sponsored by the SU Recorded Classics Committee.

McNeir to Lecture On Shakespeare

Waldo F. McNeir, professor of English, will present a speech on "Love's Labour's Lost: Shakespeare Finding His Way," in the Browsing Room of the SU, tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

McNeir, a member of the Modern Language Association and a Phi Beta Kappa, taught at both the University of Chicago and Louisiana State University before coming to Oregon in 1961. He is widely recognized as pioneering texts in freshman composition and has published two books dealing with the subject: "Problems in Reading and Writing" and "New Problems in Reading and Writing."

McNeir has published articles in more than 30 scholarly journals in this country and in Europe. He has also edited a number of books dealing with studies of literature. Currently, he co-authored the book "Annotated Bibliography of Edmund Spenser, 1937-1960," which was published last year.

McNeir taught at the University of Marburg in Germany in 1957 as a Fulbright Lecturer, and will return in 1964, also under the Fulbright program.

Farewell Banquet Reservations Due

Today is the last day to make reservations for the annual farewell dinner for foreign students, Thursday, sponsored by the Foreign Student Friendship Foundation. Tickets are $2 and may be obtained by calling or writing the University YMCA office.

The banquet is slated for 6:30 p.m. in the ballroom of the Student Union.

The banquet each year provides a final get-together for foreign students and is especially intended to honor those foreign students who will be leaving the University after this year.

The Cosmopolitan Club will make its annual awards to outstanding foreign students and entertainment will be provided by Folk Singer-English Instructor J. B. Toelken singing folk songs from around the world, and by a quartet of German students singing German student songs.

All members of the University community are invited to attend the banquet.

TODAY'S STAFF

Desk editors: Chuck Beggs and Phyllis Elving.
Reporters: Elva Jane Hass, Dave Lackey.
Proofreader: Sue Williams.

Advertisement

Old Joke No. 271

"Darling, say those three little words that will make me dance on air."

"Go hang yourself."
"Before stringing yourself up, buy a Dairy Queen. You might want to forget the whole thing. But if you don't, at least go with a pleasant taste in your mouth."

Co-op Receipt Deadline Noted

Members of the University Co-op are reminded that Monday is the last day for turning in receipts to the Co-op Store.

The member's name, address and co-op membership number must be on your envelope. Members are not to put their membership card in the envelope with the receipts. The membership card should be retained by the holder.

EPISCOPALIANS

— The Holy Communion —

GERLINGER HALL

7:00 a.m. each Wednesday

Breakfast following the Service

On Campus with Max Shulman

(Author of "I Was a Teen-age Dwarf", "The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis", etc.)

HOW TO SEE EUROPE FOR ONLY $300 A DAY: NO. 1

Summer vacation is just around the corner, and naturally all of you are going to Europe. Perhaps I can offer a handy tip or two. (I must confess that I myself have never been to Europe, but I do have a French poodle and a German shepherd, so I am not entirely unqualified.)

First let me say that no trip to Europe is complete without a visit to England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Lichtenstein, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia, Russia, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania, Crete, Sardinia, Sicily, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Lapland, and Andorra.

Let us take up these countries in order. First, England.

The old ones are thrown away

The capital of England is London—or Liverpool, as it is sometimes called. There are many interesting things to see in London—chiefly the changing of the guards. The guards are changed daily. The old ones are thrown away.

Another "must" while in London is a visit to the palace of the Duke of Marlborough. Marlborough is spelled Marlborough, but pronounced Marlboro. English spelling is very quaint, but terribly disorganized. The late George Bernard Shaw, author of Little Women, fought all his life to simplify English spelling. They tell a story about Shaw once asking a friend, "What does g-h-o-t-i spell?"

The friend pondered a bit and replied, "Goatee." Shaw sniggered. "Pshaw," said Shaw. "G-h-o-t-i does not spell goatee. It spells fish."

"How is that?" said the friend.

Shaw answered, "Gh as in enough, o as in women, ti as in motion. Put them all together, you get fish."

This was very clever of Shaw when you consider that he was a vegetarian. And a good thing he was. As Disraeli once remarked to Guy Fawkes, "If Shaw were not a vegetarian, no lamb chop in London would be safe."

But I digress. We were speaking of the palace of the Duke of Marlborough—or Marlboro, as it is called in the United States. It is called Marlboro by every smoker who enjoys a fine, rich breed of tobaccos, who appreciates a pure white filter, who likes a soft pack that is really soft, a Flip-Top box that really flips. Be sure you are well supplied with Marlboros when you make your trip abroad. After a long, tiring day of sightseeing there is nothing so welcome as a good flavorful Marlboro and a foot-bath with hot Epsom salts.

Epsom salts can be obtained in England at Epsom Downs. Kensington salts can be obtained at Kensington Gardens, Albert salts can be obtained at Albert Hall, Hyde salts can be obtained at Hyde Park, and the crown jewels can be obtained at the Tower of London.

The guards at the Tower of London are called Beefeaters because they are always beefing about what they get to eat. This is also known as "cricket" or "petrol."

Well, I guess that about covers England. In next week's column we will visit the Land of the Midnight Sun—France.

* * *

Wherever you may roam in Europe and in all fifty states of the Union, you'll find Marlboro ever-present and ever-pleasant—filter, flavor, pack or box.

NSA . . .

(Continued from page 1)

of Indian Students from the University of Calcutta, and Tim Manning, vice-president of national affairs for NSA.

ACCORDING to Miss Scrivner, Daws spoke on the importance of NSA on an international level. He said NSA is 80 per cent responsible for the non-communist world student movement. "If there is no NSA, then there is no national student voice," he said.

He went on to describe NSA as a federation, not just a club that a member can walk out on at any time.

Manning explained NSA accomplishments on the welfare level such as scholarships, books, clothing and food which are given to the needy.

HE ALSO SAID "NSA is a structure that students have established to define their goals and voice personal expression on a regional and national level."

He added that "NSA is especially concerned with civil rights, not only in the South, but in the urban areas of the north."

HAWAII 9987

From Eugene June 7th Hilo 102.07

CHARTER FLIGHT

Organized by Students for Students

Write Deadline May 18
HAWAII STUDENT CHARTER
P.O. Box 5334
Eugene, Oregon

CAMPUS COPY

10% STUDENT DISCOUNT
Complete Line of
OIL & WATER PAINTS
ALL DRAWING MATERIALS