

Committees Cover Variety of Areas

By THORA WILLIAMS
(Editor's Note: This is the second of a two-part series on the Student Union. Today's article describes the purposes and activities of the SU committees.)

Forum Committee
Lectures, discussions and panels featuring local students and faculty members are sponsored several times each term by the Forum Committee. The Committee members work to schedule programs which make campus issues vivid. Tentative plans this year call for a series of lunch discussions concerning the purpose and goals of the University.

Last Spring town hall discussions included such topics as the higher education budget, then under consideration by the legislature, the United States National Student Association and other issues.

The committee also programs the last lecture series, a program featuring members of the faculty who assume that this lecture would be their choice if it were to be their last lecture.

Arts Committee
The Arts Committee provides exhibits in the second floor art gallery in the SU building. Each year three student showings, a wagon show, and several traveling exhibits are presented.

During April and May the Pacific Northwest Art Annual brings work of outstanding artists to the campus. Each year a different art medium is featured. Last spring sculpture was featured.

A new art-lecture program will utilize colored slides and talks by members of the Architecture and Allied Arts faculty. There will also be a participation hour, which will present students with an opportunity to try a hand at various art forms.

Dance Committee
Fishbowl mixers, Wednesday night Coke 'n' Combos, and Bottom of the Bowl dances are sponsored by the Dance Committee. Another added attraction this year is Club Erb, night club-type entertainment with a combo, refreshments and other entertainment.

Two all-campus dances, Hello Dance for freshmen and the Lemon-Orange Squeeze following the Oregon State University basketball game are also planned by the dance committee.

SU Fun nights are co-sponsored by the Games Committee, Dance Committee, and the Directorate. Students can play ping pong, dance or bowl for three hours for only $1 per couple.

Talent Committee
Friday at Four, an all-campus variety show is sponsored by the Talent Committee. The Junior Weekend talent show and several hootenanny's will also be scheduled by the committee. Plans are also under way for a Folk Song Festival if enough students show interest.

Movie Committee
Full length feature films, including such favorites as "A Man Called Peter," "Shane," and "Desiree," educational movies including "Crime and Punishment," "Animal Farm," and the "Sound and the Fury," as well as film classics including "Antigone," "Midsummer Night's Dream," and others will be featured this year.

Personnel Committee
The Personnel Committee staffs the other committees of Directorate. The committee keeps a file of available student personnel.

Games Committee
The Games Committee is responsible for such indoor games as bridge, chess, bowling, billiards and table tennis. It will sponsor the Erb Memorial Union Chess Open this year.

People-to-People Committee
Working closely in orienting foreign students to American college life is the main project of the People-to-People Committee. It is affiliated with the national organization and sponsors the University buddy program for foreign students each year.

Recorded Classics and Jazz Appreciation
This group keeps the two listening rooms open and staffs the rooms with volunteer help. Recorded concerts are occasionally

Debate Group Sets Meeting Tonight

The Oregon debate society will hold its first meeting at 7:30 tonight in Room 305 of Villard Hall. The group, headed by W. Scott Nobles, associate professor of speech, deals in debate, extemporaneous speaking, oratory, impromptu, after dinner speaking, and oral interpretation of literature.

Speakers from the group are selected for the Oregon speech tournament and for tournaments throughout the nation. This year, speakers from Oregon will attend tournaments in New York City, Cincinnati, and Colorado Springs. The University has the biggest forensic tournament on the West Coast.

Infirmary
Unavoidably detained from their first day of classes were Richard E. Stubbs and Stephen C. Mannel, who spent a blue Monday in the infirmary.

YM-YWCA Slates First Coffee Hour

Foreign and American students are invited to attend the first international coffee hour sponsored by the YM and YWCA at 4 p.m. Thursday in the mens' lounge of Gerlinger hall.

The coffee hours, which will be held regularly, are one of the new programs sponsored by the Y this year.

Weekly student-faculty seminars will be held at lunch meetings. The newly-formed "man and the arts" committee will work on developing a student-faculty play-reading committee. Classical as well as contemporary drama will be considered at the evening group meetings in faculty homes.

Students or faculty members interested in any of the programs may sign up in the YMCA office, Room 318 of the SU.
