

'Old English Elegies' Browsing Room Topic

Stanley B. Greenfield, associate professor of English, who last year won the Ersted award for Distinguished Teaching, will be Wednesday's Browsing Room lecturer.

"Old English Elegies" will be the topic of the speech. Ernst G. Moll, professor of English, will be the discussion leader.

Greenfield is a scholar of Old English. This period includes Anglo-Saxon literature and language of approximately 700 to 1100 A.D.

To Read Elegies

During the lecture, Greenfield will discuss several elegies, reading them in both Old English and in modern translations. He will give a critical analysis of the works, pointing out their particular qualities.

The elegies which will be referred to in particular are "The Ruin," "The Wanderer," "The Seafarer," and "Wulf and Eadwacer."

NSA Discussion Slated Wednesday

A second panel discussion on the merits of the NSA will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the SU. Room number will be posted.

All NSA delegates and student senators are asked to be present, as well as members of the student body.

Jerry Rust, NSA coordinator, says the purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the merits of NSA and to clear up misconceptions which may exist.

Greenfield is a graduate of Cornell University and received his M.A. and Ph.D. from the University of California.

Dual Role of Professor

After receiving the Ersted award last spring, Greenfield told Register-Guard reporter Don Robinson that he feels no essential conflict divides the two tasks of a professor—research or scholarship and teaching.

"They really go hand in glove. I find that teaching stimulates scholarship and scholarship stimulates teaching," Greenfield said.

His wife, Thelma, is an assistant professor of English at the University.

Daylight Savings Ends Next Week

Oregonians will gain an hour's sleep Oct. 28 as daylight savings time goes out of effect on that date.

Sept. 28 was originally the date to set back the clocks according to the general election last November. However, the State Legislature extended the date for another month.

This is the first time in three years the entire state will switch to standard time. Previously some parts went on daylight savings while others did not.

here is a book that is teaching us how to reach out for intelligent ideas

Like most of us, you probably feel pressured at times with the demands made on you for original thinking, — for fresh ideas that will lift your work above the commonplace. Through the study of this book, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, we are learning how to turn to God for the intelligent ideas we need. You can do this, too.

We invite you to come to our meetings and to hear how we are working out our problems through applying the truths of Christian Science.
