

Work, Travel Abroad Available to Students

University students may travel, work and live abroad during the summer through programs sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA.

Summer programs include a student exchange program with the USSR, a work, study and travel seminar in Latin America, a work camp and study session in Japan and Germany, and work experience seminars in U.S. cities are among the programs offered.

Further information may be obtained in the YMCA office or the International Education Center of office on the third floor of the Student Union.

The Russian exchange student program offers six weeks of study and personal contact within the USSR plus visits in other Eastern European countries. A speaking knowledge of Russian is desirable and applicants must be of at least sophomore standing. First selections are made in December. Approximate cost for the program is $1,400.

Summer workcamps in Germany and Japan offer male students the chance to work with students of those countries while building camping facilities. Seminars and conferences are included in the program open to men who will be returning to the campus next year. Cost ranges from approximately $1,200 to $1,500.

Approximately 35 men and women may attend the seminars and field trips which are part of the summer Washington, D.C. seminar program. Students will work in government agencies for salaries large enough to cover the $75 registration fee and living expenses.

An opportunity to work with migrant laborers as well as to provide leadership in recreation is available in the Texas coastal bend migrant project. Participating students may become more acquainted with the problems of migrant laborers by participating in the program which includes manual labor. Cost is approximately $30.

UO Radio Station To Hold Marathon

A Homecoming Marathon will be presented KWAX-FM, the campus radio station, from 9 a.m. Friday morning to midnight Sunday. For 63 hours the station will broadcast every major Homecoming event.

Rick Dumm, a junior in speech, will broadcast "live" from the SU Fishbowl from 9 a.m. to noon, Saturday, and invites the public to come and watch.

"Everyone is invited to inform the station of special events worth covering by calling ext. 1775 or by coming to the studio on the third floor of Villard," stated Dick Doughty, station manager. "KWAX will originate remote broadcasts from any and all spots of interest during the weekend," he said.

Other students involved in this project are Marcia Belknap, Pete Brown, Pete Ebner, George Ryan, Roger Scott, Bill Roecker, Ken Swaggast and Jim Edom.
