short and long sleeve lengths, lively color combinations, stripes or plain colors, and Oxford or broadcloth. Some shirtmakers have dropped the buttons from the button-down look and have developed the new tab-collar look.

Blazer colors are planned to add versatility to the wardrobe. The new bottle green, burgundy, camel and black top the list. Seer sucker-striped blazers are also coming into popularity. The ever-popular packet is available in wools and dacron-cotton weaves.

Swim Wear Popular

Ties are getting brighter and wider.

Surfing shorts and swim-or-play wear are popular for warm-weather beach wear.

Swim trunks are paired with matching tops or zip-front cotton and terry parkas, knit and cotton skirt jackets, and all types of shirts... including the surfer shirts.

Stripes and madras plaids, prints, solid colors and seersucker are all important, and burgundy could become the top shade of the year.

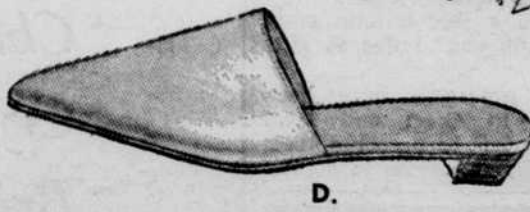

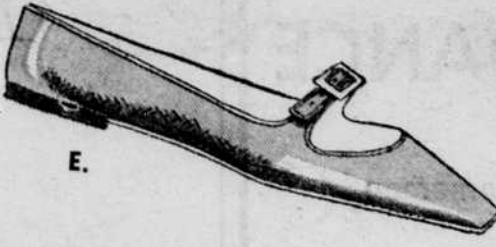

All in all—it's a big year for the fashion conscious man on campus.
