

Campus Messy for Registration Week

Those torn up streets and the general mess in the middle of campus are part of two construction projects to make the campus a nicer place to live—but not during registration week.

The project extending along 13th Ave. between Kineaid and University streets, and 400 feet up University St. is part of a $810,000 City of Eugene contract to convert the underground storm sewers to take care of surface water — usually referred to as rain — according to Dick Detroit, city engineer in charge of the work.

Completion date for the sewer work is Oct. 1. Detroit said the project couldn't be started until just before school began because the pipes must be laid in progressive order, beginning downtown.

The other project, to improve paving, landscaping and lighting at the east end of campus, is being handled by the East Campus Project, which was set up in 1961 with the Urban Renewal Agency of Eugene. Work includes widening 13th Ave. between Emerald and Moss streets, a $42,000 job that should be finished by Thursday, according to Dick Soderberg, agency director.

Street dividers, trees, lighting and a recreation area are also included in the total work, due for completion Oct. 1.

A park area is being constructed at the corner of 15th Ave. and Agate St., and a recreation area for students living in Bean dormitory is being built on Columbia St. between 15th and 16th avenues.

The federal government is paying for two-thirds of the east campus work, with the city paying one-third.

A third project is underway at the University Physical Plant. Preliminary piping is being installed for a water cooling facility to air condition campus buildings.

Longview Heating and Plumbing, Longview, Wash. is the contractor for the $357,000 project, approved this summer by the State Emergency Board.

First phase of the cooling system will serve four campus buildings—the new library addition, part of the Student Union, the new infirmary and the second addition to the science building.

Eventually air conditioning will be extended to other classrooms and buildings.

Portland Artist Exhibits Work

Paintings that range from portraits to landscapes are in the collection, "Paintings by Sally Merriman," now on exhibition in the Museum of Art.

The Portland artist, Sally Merriman, is primarily a portrait painter. She has turned to landscape painting as a relief from portraiture and has found that her landscapes have a positive effect on her approach to portrait paintings. The freedom of brushstroke which she allows herself in landscape paintings and studies help to keep her from "freezing" her approach to each individual portrait into a tightly regimented style.

Hours at the museum for the fall season are from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday; 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The museum is closed Monday.

Use Emerald Classified Ads—
Phone 342-1411, Ext. 1818.

The University Theatre

— presents —

WHO'S AFRAID OF VIRGINIA WOOLF?

The Controversial Contemporary Adult Drama

SEPTEMBER 24, 25

8:00 P.M.

Box Office: 342-1411, Ext. 1781

U.T. Season Tickets—$12.00 worth of admissions for just $8.00—are now available and may be used for this play . . .

Welcome
— ALL STUDENTS —

HEADQUARTERS FOR

Your Sorority and Fraternity Needs

Also Watch Repair and Engraving

UNIVERSITY JEWELRY

849 E. 13th

344-4611

let's go shopping at Kaufman Bros. on campus

Kaufman Bros. on campus is a friendly shop conveniently located at 840, 13th Avenue east. There you will find a corps of sales-people dedicated to the fast-moving excitement that is fashion. A store that believes in the young moderns of nice perception . . . she who is susceptible to fine distinctions, delicately discriminative of her choice in fashion.

There you will find the famous names in fashion you have learned to trust and love. Lanz, The Villager, Evan Picone, College Hill, Alex Coleman, Jantzen, Lady Manhattan, Loubella, Campus Casual, Cloat and simply dozens more. Since total fashion is the creed here, you'll find shoes, hose, accessories, jewelry, lingerie, robes and cosmetics. There also you will find a unique addition to fashion . . . a delightful Art Sales Gallery, "gallery east."

To make your shopping an effortless excursion Kaufman Bros. provides free parking at the rear of the on campus store. Inside it's pleasant surroundings the services for your benefit include: Charge Accounts, Layaways, Mailing Service, Alterations, Free Gift Wrapping and many little shopping aids that they simply consider good manners.

Have an ice cold Coke as you browse through the latest in fashion!

Kaufman Bros. also have three other locations, downtown eugene, mainstreet springfield and eugene hotel!