Senate ...

But the Senate decided not to commit the University to participation in the event by a vote of five yes, 15 no, and two abstentions.

It voted instead to allocate $50 to a University ski team-sponsored "invitational alpine and nordic championships" to be held Jan. 29 and 30 at Mt. Bachelor. That event will mainly involve competitive skiing.

Yearly Participation
The University has participated every year the carnival has been held. It wasn't held last year.

A representative from PSC was at the Senate meeting. He said there would be "tighter control" of the carnival this year. (In the past the event has had a somewhat risqué reputation.)

He said tickets to the event would not be sold here unless the Senate approved University participation.

Two years ago the event was marred by bad publicity and the appearance of about 3,500 people without tickets or plans to ski. The PSC representative said the college has signed contracts with almost every motel owner in Bend that they will not provide rooms for anyone under the age of 25 who doesn't have a Winter carnival ticket.

Possible Legal Conflict
ASUO President Steve Goldschmidt said he thought this provision conflicted with the public accommodations section of the 1964 civil rights law.

Ski coach Tore Steen said, "The University has nothing to gain from attaching its name to this, but we have a lot to gain from saying that this is the sort of drunken brawl we don't want anything to do with."

The man from Portland State said Bend officials were unconcerned about a possible trouble at the event.

In other business the Senate:

- Refused by a vote of 7-13-2 to endorse a "University College Leaders' Prayer Dessert. Senator-at-Large Mike Donahue, sponsor of the bill, said he planned to get Oregon House Speaker F. F. "Monte" Montgomery to speak at the event. He said he would go ahead with plans for the event even though he didn't get Senate approval.
- Several senators and Goldschmidt objected to a statement by Donahue that the dessert was "a way to test the value of this body." "We're not here to test beliefs," Goldschmidt said, "we are here to legislate."
- Asked that the dormitory system offer a choice between meat and fish on Friday. The vote was 10 yes, one no, two abstentions.
- Asked that two tennis courts by Alder St. be lighted for recreational use.
- Approved Jan. 29 and Feb. 2 as dates for the ASUO primary and general elections and 5 p.m. Jan. 18 as the deadline for petitions. The Senate also approved campaign rules that will be the same as last term except that the Elections Court is no longer required to consider a candidate guilty of a rule violation if he fails to appear for a hearing. They may still do so, however.
- Heard a memorandum from President Flemming stating that he had asked the Office of Planning and Institutional Research to study re-routing of the Upper Millrace, a proposal made by the Senate. If that office considers the idea worth more work, Flemming said he will consider employing an engineer firm to do a feasibility and cost study.

Kerns Memorial Rites Saturday

Friends, former students, and associates of the late Maude Kerns are invited to the memorial that will be held Saturday.

The memorial, at 11 a.m. in Gerlinger Hall, will open with the presentation of "Agnes Dei" from Faure's "Requiem" by the University Chamber Choir under the direction of Neil E. Wilson, associate professor of music.

Dean Walter L. Creese of the School of Architecture and Allied Arts, with which Miss Kerns was associated as head of the Department of Art Education from 1921 until her retirement in 1947, will preside at the memorial.

Brief addresses will be given by Dean Creese, who will speak on "Maude Kerns, the Teacher"; Karl W. Onthank, professor emeritus of social science and long-time associate and friend of Miss Kerns, who will speak on "The Maude Kerns Nobody Knew"; and Ron Tore Jensen, director of the Maude I. Kerns Art Center of Eugene, who will speak on "Maude Kerns Benefactress of the Art Center."

The memorial program will conclude with the University Chamber Choir singing "In Paradisum," also from Faure's "Requiem."

Parking for those who attend the memorial will be available in the lot in back of Erb Memorial Union.
