

SDS Considers Vigils, Protests

The Students for a Democratic Society Thursday considered a motion adopted Wednesday night by the Faculty Student Committee. The motion included a public speaker, a series of vigils, and a protest march to be held if and when aggression is resumed by U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

The SDS voted not to sponsor a bonfire in connection with the rally. The fire would have burned in effigy the pentagon and various war slogans of the Johnson administration.

A member of the student faculty committee reported that the protest was to take the form of a funeral march and might possibly include a horse and wagon bearing a coffin draped in black.

Religious Leaders Back Peace Vigil

A "Vigil for Peace" prayer meeting for peace in Viet Nam will be held from 12:30-2:30 p.m. today in Gerlinger Hall.

The object of the prayer service is to bring people, regardless of religious tradition, together for intercessory prayer for peace in Viet Nam.

The services will consist primarily of periods of silent meditation and prayer. Brief selections from representative scriptures from the world's religions will be read periodically.

Individuals may enter and leave at any time during the hours of the service.

Printed materials will be distributed incorporating official statements of Protestant, Roman Catholic, and Jewish organizations on the issues of war and peace in Viet Nam.

The SDS did vote to co-sponsor the march, vigil and public meeting, but voted disapproval of the use of the horse.

SDS officers were elected for the term at the meeting Thursday night in the Student Union.

Elected were Phil Brandt, chairman; Lou Sinnigar, vice president; Zoe Best, secretary; and Gary Coover, treasurer.

Discussed was the concert-film night to be held Monday, Jan. 24, in 150 Science. The folk singing group of Joe MacDonald and Barry Melton will be followed by a film with comments on the Berkeley situation.

Mrs. David Aberle, faculty adviser for the group, suggested that an artist from the San Francisco area be invited to discuss the coup d'etate in Indonesia. She also suggested that a symbolism be held on the national liberation movement.

Violin Instructor To Show Method

An exponent of the Suzuki-Kendall method of violin instruction, John Kendall, will speak and give demonstrations at the Conference on Music Education today and Saturday at the University School of Music.

Kendall has written extensively about the method which can teach very young children to play the violin by ear. It was inspired by Kendall's study with Japanese violin teacher Shinichi Suzuki.

The amendments which were voted on last spring were mainly corrections of oversights in the present Constitution. They make it illegal for a person to hold simultaneously two offices under the Constitution or financed under the ASUO budget, set terms for class officers and dormitory representatives, and outlaw ex post facto bills.

The Senate also approved the appointments of Edwin R. Bingham, professor of history; Elwood Kretsinger, professor of speech; Roger Qualman, junior in economics; and Mark Fritzler, senior in political science, the ASUO Constitutional Committee, the group which interprets the Constitution.
