

Swimmers Slate Civil War in Corvallis

By GORDON ROSENBERG
Sports Writer

The Duck basketball team won't stage the only Civil War battles this weekend.

Oregon's swimmers travel to Corvallis to take on Oregon State at 2 p.m. Saturday.

"We've never lost to Oregon State in the last six years of competition and we don't plan on starting now," emphasized head coach Don Van Rossen.

OSU has essentially the same team that finished seventh in the league last season, except that stand-out backstroker Gregor Greig didn't return this year.

Returning to lead the Beavers again are freestyler Doug Huey and All-American breaststroker Jerry Wille.

Huey, Wille Top OSU

Huey is a speedy sprint swimmer who finished second in last season's 50-yard freestyle finals. He also swims the 100-yard freestyle and the 400-yard relay medley.

"Huey is their top performer," stated Van Rossen.

Wille turned in the nation's eighth fastest 100-yard breaststroke time a year ago. He is a stand-out in both the 100- and 200-yard breaststroke, and swims in the 400-yard relay medley.

"In Wille, OSU has one more returning All-American than we do," added Van Rossen.

In regards to the Ducks, Van Rossen stated that they have gone to three workouts a day in preparation for the league finals.

Ducks Await Finals

"We're working towards the qualifying times for the finals," he said.

In order to qualify for this season's finals, a swimmer must equal the slowest time in his event during last season's finals.

Through four league meets, top Duck performers have been junior Monty Holding and sophomore speedster Jay Greening.

Holding has picked up three firsts in the 200-yard butterfly. He is yet to be defeated in this event. He also swims some of the freestyle events.

NCAA champion diver Larry Follinsbee is working back to last year's form, having taken first in the UCLA meet last Saturday. Webfoot Don Merkt captured second in this event, topping the 200-point mark for the first time this season with 201.05 points.

Team Works Hard

Van Rossen said that the difference between this team and past ones is in "how much they practice."

"These boys really work hard," he stated.

On paper, it looks as if Oregon will reward itself with a victory over OSU this time around. But Van Rossen expresses the situation best:

"We should beat them, but everytime Oregon and Oregon State athletic teams meet, you can't tell what will happen."

Keith has been pleased with the team's performance in practice this week. "The kids are looking good in practice," he said. "They've been responding real well. The riding's been getting better and we're working hard on conditioning."

He added that Malpass "has been looking better in practice than he did on the trip. He's been making some good shots on takedowns."

The OCE match Friday is scheduled for 8 p.m., while the Saturday PSC bout is set for 7:30 p.m.

Oregon Ruggers Set UBC Match

The Oregon rugby team opposes the University of British Columbia Saturday, a team which will provide "our strongest opposition again this year," according to coach Bruce Howe.

The two teams were snowed out last year in Vancouver, but "UBC has handled us pretty easily in the past," said the coach. "They won the conference championship last year." Howe thinks that UBC, Oregon State and Oregon will stage a close race this year.

Key players on the team are returnees Barry Ward at fullback, Don Simonson and Warren Hamill at the wings, and Jack Haring, Ron Larson, and Cliff Freeman at the forwards.

Ward scored 12 points last Saturday in Oregon's win over the Portland Rugby Club. The Northwest Rugby Conference opener will be played at 1:15 p.m. on the football practice field.
