

Campus CARE Plans Folk Fest

Plans for a Folk Fest were made at the Campus CARE meeting Jan. 17. The Folk Fest will be held from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday, Feb. 4. Its purpose is to raise money to send food to India's twelve million hungry people.

The program will include folk singers, instrumentalists on recorders, piano and guitar, the University Folk Dancers, and hopefully, performances by international students.

There will be no admission charge. Contributions will be accepted during and after the Fest.

India is now facing droughts and possible famine. According to recent reports in the Eugene Register-Guard, twelve million of India's people are in "dire distress" and one hundred million people are expected to be affected.

Campus CARE hopes to raise enough money to send over a few tons of food. One hundred dollars will send one ton of food.

Anyone interested in performing or helping may contact Kerstin Block, 343-5640.

Job Corps Program 'Dismal' Says Green

PORTLAND (AP)—Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., was quoted in the Oregon Journal today as saying the Job Corps program "is a dismal program of what might be a Great Society."

A news story by Tom Stimmel of the Journal's Washington service says the Job Corps has failed to enlist enough girls — only 1,490 in the country. "When you consider that there are half a million girls alone eligible for the program I'd say this was a pretty dismal failure," she said.

Mrs. Green said that the Tongue Point Job Corps Center, which is operated by the University, had a dropout rate of 65 per cent, having had a top enrollment of 1,200 boys but only some 450 now.

At Astoria, the Job Corps had figures which differed with Mrs. Green's. The center said its top enrollment was 562 in June, and that the current enrollment was 476. It also said that of 1,236 youths who have entered the program, 533 have either dropped out voluntarily or been asked to leave. That does not include a number who have joined the armed forces.

The center said that a recent Office of Economic Opportunity report showed that as of Dec. 1, the Tongue Point center was rated No. 1 in what the report called "holding power" among eight urban centers.

Flemming Appointed
