

Herman to Consider Problems of Cities

Justin Herman, San Francisco's redevelopment director, doesn't believe architects and designers have all the answers to "what's wrong with the city?" He will give his views for the University's "What's Wrong with the City" lecture series.

The fourth of six experts slated to speak on the problems of urban life and the economy, Herman will talk at 12:30 p.m. in the Thunderbird Motel on Coburg Road.

He has been nationally applauded for the results he has obtained in San Francisco, where he successfully sidestepped patronage and bureaucratic traditions to overhaul the city's renewal staff and rejuvenate a moribund program.

Herman was featured in the December 24 Life Magazine edition focusing on cities and their problems.

In an article called "Nine Tough Pros Sound Off," he said solutions to urban problems begin by our understanding what our problems are: jobs, economics, race. "All the good planning in the world cannot overcome a faulty political system that gives you bad leadership, or the resistance and antagonism of racial minorities."

The redevelopment director was special assistant to the administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency in Washington, D.C., from February to September, 1959.

Herman served as regional administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, with headquarters in San Francisco, serving Western States, including Alaska, Hawaii, and Guam, from 1951 to February, 1959. He directed urban renewal, housing, and community facilities programs of the agency.

The formal lecture admission charge is $2.00.

The "What's Wrong with the City?" lecture series as formulated through the cooperative efforts of the Eugene Chamber of Commerce, the Oregon State Division of Continuing Education, the University School of Architecture and Allied Arts, and the American Institute of Architects.

Grant to Finance Education Institute

A National Defense Education Act grant of $68,432 awarded by the U.S. Office of Education will finance the first University institute for teachers of reading.

The institute will be held in conjunction with the University's summer session, June 20 to Aug. 12.

The objective of the institute is to analyze present concepts related to the teaching of reading from the various disciplines of anthropology, education, English, psychology, and sociology.

Jordan Utsey, assistant professor of education, will direct "An Interdisciplinary Study of Reading." He will be assisted by Mrs. Lillian Weathers, instructor of education.

Other permanent staff members include Mrs. Mary Bridges, Eugene public schools, and Cyrus Blair and James Maney, Lake Oswego public schools.

Three guest lecturers are scheduled to take part. They are William Bricker, assistant professor of psychology; Silvy A. Kraus, associate professor of education; and William Eller of the education department at the University of New York. Each lecturer will conduct one week of the session.

Fifty participants from Oregon, Washington, and Idaho will be attending the institute. In order to qualify, applicants must have completed no more than one graduate course in reading and be currently employed as elementary teachers. Each participant will receive a stipend of $75 a week for the eight-week session.

Degree Candidates Must File Now

The Registrar's Office is now preparing lists of degree candidates for the March 11, 1966 graduate convocation. The last day upon which application for degree can be accepted is Feb. 11. This date will be enforced because of the many operations of checking, listing and clearing which must follow.

All documents necessary for the awarding of a degree must be on file in the Registrar's Office by the end of winter term.

Any students who applied for previous commencement and did not receive degrees must re-apply.

YR's Schedule Candidates' Fair

University Young Republicans will hold the second Candidates' Fair at 8 p.m. today in the Student Union.

All candidates for positions in the ASUO Senate have been invited to come and state their views on campus as well as national and international issues with which the Senate will be dealing.

All Young Republicans and interested students are invited to attend. Following the candidates' presentations, the audience may ask questions. The YR club will then endorse candidates for the various positions.

The first Candidates' Fair held last term was successful in that those who attended learned the positions of the candidates.

The YR's hope that by providing such an open forum more students will be able to be informed before they vote in Wednesday's election.

Tutorial Schedule

MONDAY 7-10 p.m.

English Comp., 215 Allen, Nancy Sullivan, 482; Al Deppenbrock, 2148; Judy Beistel, 2169.

Math, 221 Allen, Janet Fowler, 2288; Karen Kirkmine, 1754.

Literature, 313 Allen, Sara Madden, 1845.

Library Research Methods, 234 Comm., Don Barstad.

Phy. Sci. Survey, 233 Science, Chuck Stout, 344, 9846.

Gen. Chemistry, 105 Science, Carrie Ireland, 1586; Sheryl Gardner, 345-9044.

On Campus with Max Shulman

(By the author of "Rally Round the Flag, Boys!", "Dobie Gillis," etc.)

ROOMMATES: THEIR CAUSE AND CURE

You'd think that with all the progress we have made in the education game, somebody would have found a cure for roommates by now. But no. Roommates remain as big a problem today as they were when Ethan Mather founded the first American college.

(Contrary to popular belief, Harvard was not the first. Mr. Mather started his institution some 100 years earlier. And quite an institution it was, let me tell you! Mr. Mather built schools of liberal arts, fine arts, dentistry and tanning. He built a lacrosse stadium that seated 200,000. Everywhere on campus was emblazoned the stirring Latin motto CAVE MUSSI—"Watch out for moose." The student union contained a bowling alley, a weighing machine, and a sixteen-chair barber shop.)

(It was this last feature—the barber shop—that, alas, brought Mr. Mather's college to an early end. The student body, being drawn chiefly from the nearby countryside, was composed almost entirely of Pequot and Iroquois Indians who, alas, had no need of a barber shop. They braided the hair on top of their heads, and as for the hair on their faces, they had none. The barber, Tremblatt Follicle by name, grew so depressed staring day after day at 16 empty chairs that one day his mind gave way. Seizing his vibrator, he ran outside and shook the entire campus till it crumbled to dust. This later became known as Pickett's Charge.)

But I digress. We were exploring ways for you and your roommate to stop hating each other. This is admittedly difficult but not impossible if you will both bend a bit, give a little.

I remember, for example, my own college days (Berlitz '08). My roommate was, I think you will allow, even less agreeable than most. He was a Tibetan named Ringading whose native customs, while indisputably colorful, were not entirely endearing. Mark you, I didn't mind so much the gong he struck on the hour or the string of firecrackers he set off on the half hour. I didn't even mind that he singed chicken feathers every dusk and daybreak. What I did mind was that he singed them in my hat.

To be fair, he was not totally taken with some of my habits either—especially my hobby of collecting water. I had no jars at the time, so I just had to stack the water any-old-where.

Well, sir, things grew steadily cooler between Ringading and me, and they might actually have gotten ugly had we not each happened to receive a package from home one day. Ringading opened his package, paused, smiled shyly at me, and offered me a gift.

"Thank you," I said. "What is it?"

"Yak butter," he said. "You put it in your hair. In Tibetan we call it gree see kidstuff."

"Well now, that's mighty friendly," I said and offered him a gift from my package. "Now you must have one of mine."

"Thank you," he said. "What is this called?"

"Personna Stainless Steel Razor Blades," I said.

"I will try one at once," he said. And did.

"Wowdow!" he cried. "Never have I had such a smooth, close, comfortable shave!"

"Ah, but the best is yet!" I cried. "For you will get many, many smooth, close, comfortable shaves from your Personna Blade—each one nearly as smooth, close, and comfortable as the first!"

"Wowdow!" he cried.

"Moreover," I cried, "Personna Blades come both in Double Edge style and Injector style!"

"Sort of makes a man feel humble," he said.

"Yes," I said.

We were both silent then, not trusting ourselves to speak. Silently we clasped hands, friends at last, and I am proud to say that Ringading and I remain friends to this day. We exchange cards each Christmas and firecrackers each Fourth of July.

* * *

© 1966, Max Shulman

The makers of Personna® Stainless Steel Blades who sponsor this column—sometimes nervously—are also the makers of Burma Shave®. Burma Shave soaks rings around any other lather and is available in regular or menthol. Be kind to your kisser; try some soon.

Campus Briefs

Announcements for Campus Briefs must be turned in by 3:30 p.m. the day before publication. Because of space limitations, no announcements will be run more than twice.

The Personnel Management Association will hold a luncheon meeting at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday in the SU.

Young Republicans will hold a candidates' fair at 8 p.m. today in the SU. ASUO candidates have been invited to present a statement of their positions. All YR members are encouraged to come and participate in the endorsements.

The Webfoot Flying Club will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the SU. All interested students and faculty members are invited.

Students for a Democratic Society will hold a business meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the SU.

Applications for the Queen selection committee of Junior Weekend will be accepted today and Tuesday in 301 SU.

Petitions for a voluntary secretary to work five to ten hours a week for the Director of the Oregon Collegiate Ski Conference are available in 301 SU. Questions will be answered in 308A SU. The deadline is Friday.

THIRD ANNUAL EUROPE $450
JET CHARTER FLIGHT
CALL 342-2772

PATRONIZE YOUR • ADVERTISERS •

When you can't afford to be dull, sharpen your wits
with NoDoz™

NoDoz Keep Alert Tablets fight off the hazy, lazy feelings of mental sluggishness. NoDoz helps restore your natural mental vitality...helps quicken physical reactions. You become more naturally alert to people and conditions around you. Yet NoDoz is as safe as coffee. Anytime...when you can't afford to be dull, sharpen your wits with NoDoz.

SAFE AS COFFEE

Use Emerald Classified Ads—
Phone 342-1411, Ext. 1818.

Campus Democrats!

Help Support Your Party!

ATTEND THE DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN

Kickoff Dinner
Saturday, February 12

7:30 p.m. HOTEL HILTON, PORTLAND

$15.00 per person. No host reception at 6:30 p.m. On behalf of U.S. Representatives Edith Green, Al Ullman and Bob Duncan. Lena Horne featured guest. Tickets can be obtained or reserved by calling 345-7411.