

Wrestlers Split Beaver, SJS Meets

By RANDE WILMARTH

Give or take a match—and the Oregon wrestlers might have reversed the split they scored in this weekend's two meets.

Or even improved upon it.

The Ducks gained decisions in the last two bouts Friday in McArthur court to edge San Jose State in a come-from-behind 17-14 victory and then won only four of nine matches Saturday in Corvallis and suffered a 19-12 defeat at the hands of Oregon State.

The split moved the Duck's season record to 10-4-1 and concluded the team's dual meet season. Next competition will be March 4-5 in Seattle when the Webfoots will enter the AAWU tournament.

"We were hoping to get one more win," said Keith of the OSU meet, "but they wouldn't let us have it. We won the four we expected to win, but we just couldn't quite do the job."

Those four were the Ducks with the best season's records—Doug Robertson, now 13-3-2, defeated Ron Iwasaki at 123 pounds, 6-2; Curt Scott, 14-2, crushed Matt Dunckel at 130, 10-2; Bob Mitchell, 10-4-1, edged Jim Quinn at 160, 3-2; and Bruce Glenn, 13-0, defeated Jeff Smith at 167, 3-0.

Keith, obviously, was happy with the quartet. "Curt and Doug looked good; and Dunckel's been doing real well for them. Mitchell did a good job, but he hasn't completely recovered from the flu. Glen looked good in the first round; he got the takedown and lots of riding time."

The Beavers picked up a couple of pins for their seven-point margin. OSU's Steve Woods, 137 pounds, pinned Mike Buck in the third round, as did Robin Bolton when he met Oregon's Steffen Criner.

Bolton picked up four quick points in the first round on a whizzer and hip-lock combination for a TD and predicament, but Criner moved within two points at 5-3 in the third round with an escape and a strong riding time advantage.

Then, according to Keith, Criner "went in for the takedown late in the third round and Bolton caught him" for the fall.

Same Thing Friday

If one match could have changed the final score Saturday against OSU, then the Ducks were in the same position Friday during the Spartan match.

Loren Miller's 160-pound 14-2 decision over Oregon's John Malpass left both teams in an identical position with 11 points, each squad having won previously two bouts by decision and one by a fall.

The meet took the same static appearance during the next match as Mitchell and Cy Lucas fought to a 2-2 standoff with only seconds remaining. But Mitchell, on the offense, lost control of Lucas at the buzzer and the Spartan gained a slim 3-2 decision.

That gave San Jose State a 14-11 team lead, which only seemed safe for about two minutes into the next match. Oregon 177-pounder Kent Studebaker scored a TD in the first round of his match with Paul Hatling and went on to a 10-3 win.

Heavyweight Bob Lawrence wrapped it up for the Ducks with a convincing 12-4 win over Rich Popejoy.

"Worried for Awhile"

"Bob (Mitchell) was trying for the win instead of the tie," said Keith. "He should have played it safe. I was worried there for awhile, but it came out alright. That Lucas was good, though. He's a strong kid."

Oregon moved into an early 8-0 lead on the strength of a 12-1 decision by Robertson and a pin by Curt Scott, but the Spartans tied it up with a fall and a decision.

Then Craig Caster put the Ducks ahead again, decisioning Gary Scardina in the 152-pound class, 16-5. The points came on two takedowns, two reversals, a predicament, a near fall and an escape.

Keith was pleased with Caster's win. "Caster throws everything at the right time. His timing is excellent; we've been working on our throws."

University Soccer Scores Two Wins

University soccer teams exploded for 19 goals Saturday as the varsity downed Lewis and Clark 9-2 and the JV squad won 10-1 in Portland. The Webfoot varsity, which won the Oregon Intercollegiate Soccer Association championship a week ago, extended its record to 7-0. The JV team is now 5-0.

Frosh Foes Harsh In Weekend Games

There have been better weekends than the last as far as freshman sports are concerned.

Four yearling teams went into action five times—and on each occasion met with a convincing defeat.

The first to go were coach Jerry Anderson's hoopsters.

Visiting Multnomah Athletic Club, using a 16-point performance by former Webfoot all-American Chuck Rask, snapped the frosh winning streak at seven, 81-72, despite a 29-point effort by Duckling Glen Campbell.

MAC, which had "just too much rebounding strength" for the Oregon youngsters, roared away to a ten-point advantage early in the first half, led 41-33 at intermission, and coasted in from there.

The only other freshman to hit double figures was guard Rick Abrahamson with 13.

"Roughest Group"

Abrahamson added 28—high for the game—the following afternoon, but the frosh still lost, 102-89, to what Anderson called the roughest group his team has played all year—undefeated Claudia's, champions of the Portland AAU league.

Claudia's beat the Ducklings in almost exactly the same fashion as Multnomah Athletic Club did the day before—by building up a 12-point first-half lead, and then keeping it between six and 15 the rest of the way to win.

Three players—including former Oregon State star Frank Peters—had at least 25 points for the winners. Former Beaver all-American Jim Jarvis added 10.

Orwyn Sampson's gymnastics squad, minus their most valuable all-around performer, Wayne Noecker, received a surprising performance from Brian Tallman but still lost to host South Salem Friday night, 58-46.

Tallman filled in for Noecker by taking the all-around event in addition to placing second on the parallel bars, horizontal bar, and third on the side horse.

Kissler Wins

Spence Kissler did what he usually does on the still rings—win—for the only other frosh success.

Another weekend casualty was the wrestling team, which succumbed 31-0 to the same Oregon State Rook team that beat them 39-2 four weeks earlier.

The visiting Webfoot matmen were, in coach Don Hoiness' words "way down." Not one particularly satisfying performance could be had out of the whole group, he said.

The freshman swimmers, even with the help of their coach, national champion and Olympian Jack Kelso, couldn't beat their varsity counterparts.

Kelso won two events for the frosh—the 200 yard breaststroke and individual medley—in a meet that saw only one "legitimate" freshman win. That man was Wayne Schwandt, who edged out Larry Folinsbee of the varsity in the diving competition.

night. And with Jones hitting for only four points, equalling his season's low effort, the Webfoots were dead.

If the Duck guards were below par, the forward duo of Jennings and Thomas came into their own. Although performing in the shadow of Block's fantastic exhibition, these two combined for a 15 for 22 shooting mark, in addition to grabbing seven rebounds apiece.

Obviously disappointed in the loss, Belko seemed relatively satisfied with the play of his charges. "The kids worked hard," he said, "if only we could have gotten within three or four, then we could have settled down and played basketball. As it is, we had to go out there and try to catch them. They (USC) did everything we thought they would, and they hurt us with it."

Coach Praises Teams

Twogood, the personable Trojan boss, was laudatory in his remarks about both teams. "I thought we played one of our better games this year," he noted. "I thought Oregon played great. We just traded baskets for a while. Steve's club is 100-per cent better than the one we played before. They owned the corner shot, the toughest one in basketball."

"I'm not a believer in all-America teams," said Twogie in reference to Block's outstanding play, "but if that kid isn't all-America, there is no justice."

Oregon Swimmers Defeat Pacific

Bob Brockhouse nabbed two first places Friday at Leighton Pool and paced the Oregon swimming team to a 59-35 win over Pacific University.

Brockhouse clocked a 2:12.5 in the 200-yard individual medley and a 2:13.3 in the 200-yard backstroke for the wins.

The Ducks gained five other first places in the meet. Bruce Hess claimed a 200-yard freestyle win, with a 1:54.1 time. Oregon's Don Smith was second in the event in 1:55.4.

Larry Folinsbee nabbed the diving event win, scoring 195.05 points to second place Don Merket's 188.50. Both represent the Ducks.

Monty Holding scored a win in the 200-yard butterfly, recording a 2:05.3 time. Rex Sorenson of Oregon, clocking a 2:31.3 mark, was second.

Jud Shutts paced the 500-yard freestyle competition, defeating Pacific's Roger Bird in 5:31.0.

Rich Gessling of Oregon was third in 5:53.0.

Oregon nabbed the 400-yard freestyle relay win by 16 seconds, finishing in 3:33.4. Pacific was timed in 3:49.8.

The visitors won the 400-yard medley relay in 3:50.2, compared to Oregon's 3:55.3 time.
