

Ambassador to See Festival Student Protests Board's Action

ZENON ROSSIDES

Zenon Rossides, ambassador to the United States from Cyprus, will be in Eugene for the third annual International Festival at the University.

Ambassador Rossides will arrive in Eugene Thursday, April 14, and will remain through Sunday, April 17, the final day of the Festival.

Born in Cyprus and educated in Cyprus and England, Rossides has been an active supporter of self-determination for Cyprus. He first discussed the issue with British Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald while a member of the National Delegation of Cyprus to London in 1929.

During the 1931 national uprising in Cyprus, Rossides was under arrest for two months and then placed under confinement in the village of Kythrea for two years. In subsequent years he played a prominent role in the organization of the national movement for the liberation of Cyprus.

During the early 1950's, Rossides attended several sessions of the United Nations General Assembly in Paris and New York, as observer for Cyprus. In 1954, Rossides participated in the conferences with Greek Prime Minister Papagos, resulting in the first inscription of the Question of Cyprus on the agenda of the General Assembly.

As a member of the Delegation of Greece to the United Nations from 1956-68, Rossides participated in General Assembly sessions and represented Greece on the social, cultural and humanitarian committee.

Rossides represented the Greek people of Cyprus at the London Joint Committee in 1959-60 which was called for the preparation of the Treaty of Establishment of the Republic of Cyprus. In September of 1950, he headed the first Cypriot Delegation on the admission of Cyprus to the United Nations.

A writer as well as a diplomat, Rossides has published poetry in Greek and British literary magazines and has written articles on the question of Cyprus appearing in British, American and Greek publications.

A man in a sweatshirt, saying he represented no one but himself, read a statement at the Student Union Board meeting Wednesday denouncing the Board's authority.

"I don't recognize this group as having any jurisdiction over the SU," he said. "Any action taken by this group is autocratic and illegal, and serves no one but itself."

The man, identified as Lee Feldman, went on to say, "You hold hearings to discuss change. But the only change you wish to discuss concerns change in the game played in this room."

"At the next meeting of the Students for Democratic Society (SDS) I shall introduce the motion that the SDS initiate a forum to discuss control of the Student Union and its activities," Feldman said.

Shortly after Feldman spoke, Bob Caufield, a junior and a non-member made a recommendation that the structure of the Board be changed.

Caufield said the present board was too big. He suggested it be cut in half from its present membership of 18. As regarding the election procedure, he suggested that all the positions on the Board be elective and that three should be nominated by the ASUO, two be selected from the faculty, and that four be elected from the student body at large.

Caufield added that each member should have a two-year term and that the elections should be staggered and be held every two terms. The Board recommended that Caufield come to today's hearings and present his plan.

In its regular business meeting the Board approved plans for the International Festival, which begins April 13.

Among other business, the Board voted to take to the budget committee a proposal to buy more sound equipment for McArthur Court. According to Dick Lawrence, a member of the committee which investigated the sound problem, if the budget committee acts soon enough, the improved equipment can be installed in time for the Mancini concert.

Low to Preside at VISTA Lunch

University President Arthur S. Flemming will address approximately 30 VISTA volunteers in graduation ceremonies Saturday.

VISTA is Volunteers in Service to America and has been called the domestic Peace Corps.

R. N. Lowe, professor of education and director of VISTA training at the University, will preside at the completion luncheon and ceremony at noon Saturday in the Student Union.

The VISTA graduates are members of the fifth group of volunteers to complete a six-week training period at the University. Field observation combined with classroom experience was emphasized during the training which included visits to Job Corps sites and migrant labor projects.

These volunteers will leave Saturday for permanent assignments in their year of service in the national War on Poverty.

Five VISTA officers from the national headquarters in Washington, D.C., will be present for the Saturday ceremony. They are training officer Edward Graydon; field support officer Sheldon Cole; evaluation officer Carol Burnbaum; project officer Saul Blackman; and selection officer William Molden.

The University will begin training its sixth group of volunteers May 2.

Draft Call Cut Down, Lowest Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced today a June draft call slashed to the lowest level since the Viet Nam buildup began last August.

It asked Selective Service to induct 15,000 young men in June, all for the Army.

This is less than half the May draft quota of 34,600 and the lowest since the 16,500 last August.

"The decrease in the June draft call is primarily due to the fact that voluntary enlistments normally increase in June at the end of the school year," the Pentagon said.

YRs to Hold Annual Election

Young Republican elections will be held at 7 p.m. today in the Student Union Dads' Room. Only those students who joined the club by April 1 will be eligible to vote.

Some students have already announced their candidacy, but nominations will also be made from the floor. Each candidate will speak to the club after the nominating speeches are made, then nominees will participate in a question and answer session.

Seating provisions will be made for all non-members who wish to watch the elections but they will not be allowed to vote.

Plans for the state convention to be held April 15-16 in Salem will also be discussed.

Briefing Center To Sponsor Film

A free world center for all basic aspects of research and study is the theme of the film, "Look North," to be shown at the World Affairs Briefing Center in the Student Union today at 4 p.m.
