

English Major Wins Fellowship

A University student, Frank Jerome Thompson of Salem, has been named winner of a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for 1966-67. Thompson is a senior in English.

He was one of 48 students from 12 institutions of the Pacific Northwest and Canada selected to be Woodrow Wilson Fellows.

The Fellows will receive tuition and fees for one year at the graduate school of their choice, plus a living stipend of $2,000 and allowances for dependent children. The graduate school they attend also receives a grant from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

The University is one of three institutions in the state with students receiving fellowships. Five Oregon students were awarded honorable mention for being semi-finalists in the fellowships competition.

Established in 1945 for the purpose of providing advanced training for prospective college teachers, the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship program is the largest private source of support for advanced work in the liberal arts. It is financed by grants from the Ford Foundation.

Wilkinson Holds Painting Exhibit

Recent paintings by Jack Wilkinson, head of the Department of Fine and Applied Arts in the University School of Architecture and Allied Arts, will be shown in a one-man exhibit at the Maude I. Kerns Art Center until April 22.

The artist has exhibited widely, including the Musee de L'art Moderne Paris and won a number of awards, including the Phelan Award of the San Francisco Art Association.

Wilkinson says he finds it necessary, in the light of extensive design information acquired by painters since the beginning of cubism, to work more spontaneously and closely with the basic visual character of things seen.

He tries not only to escape "decorativeness," but mainly to capture a visual moment, hoping it will be a "magic moment on canvas."

Hours for the Maude I. Kerns Art Center, 1910 E. 15th Ave., are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday evening.

Motel, Hotel Lists Available Now

Mothers' Weekend, May 6-8, is rapidly approaching and housing accommodations should be obtained now for visiting parents. There are 50 motels and hotels within the Eugene-Springfield area with rooms available for the weekend.

Lists of the motels in the area have been distributed among the living organizations, and information concerning the motels which are already filled is available in the Office of Student Affairs.

It will save time to consult the list of filled motels before trying to make reservations. Many of the motels closest to campus are already filled.
