Bell versus Bill

By RANDE WILMARTH
Sports Editor

The faces will be the same, but one of the teams will be different Saturday as Oregon travels to Berkeley for its second PAC dual track meet. As in the past, Duck coach Bill Bowerman will be facing familiar Sam Bell, former Oregon State track coach.

But Bell is now leading the California track squad and, if past performances are any indication, the Ducks have a two-thirds chance of winning. During Bell's tour of duty at OSU from 1959 to 1965, Bowerman's teams defeated the Beavers in eight out of 12 dual meets.

San Jose State has been added to the competition at Cal and the scores will be kept in both the double dual and triangular meet method.

PRESS BOX TO GET NAME

The new Howe Field press box will be dedicated shortly before the opening pitch of the 1966 Northern Division baseball season at 3 p.m. Friday in memory of former Eugene Register-Guard sports editor Dick Strite. According to Oregon sports publicist Hal Childs, Strite seldom missed an Oregon game and sat through many windy and rainy afternoons covering Duck ball games. Strite died last July after serving several decades as a Guard sports writer.

Oregon faces OSU in the ND opener.

With AAWU conference track just beginning to roll, UCLA's commanding position in many events could help the Bruins in keeping the lead in the race for the PAC all-sports cup. Five of the nine counting events have been recorded and UCLA leads Southern California by 13 points (with scoring based on 14 points for a first place in conference standings all the way down to one point for an eighth place finish), 52-39.

OREGON SIXTH IN CUP RACE

UCLA nabbed a first spot in football, seconds in basketball and swimming, a third in wrestling and a fourth in gymnastics.

Oregon State is third with 31, Washington State fourth with 28, California fifth with 27½, Oregon and Stanford sixth with 27 and Washington eighth with 26½.

The Ducks' points came on a second place spot in wrestling, a fourth in swimming, a fourth place tie in basketball, a sixth in gymnastics and an eighth in football. . . .

Final NCAA basketball statistics have been released and all-conference center John Block of USC finished 20th in the nation in scoring with a 25.2 average. Block was second in free throws made in a game, hitting 21 of 21 against Washington. . . .

Oregon State led the nation in defense, the Ducks were 17th, Cal was 31st and Stanford was 32nd. . . .

Ray Stein of Washington State had the distinction of being eighth in the country in fouls, committing 4.08 per game.

Dedicated Distance Men Head Frosh Track Team

By RICK FITCH
Sports Writer

If past performances are any sign, track coach Bill Bowerman has on his hands two of Oregon's finest distance running prospects since Archie San Romani and Dyrrol Burleson.

Freshmen Roscoe Divine and Hal Jackson came to the University with two of the best records in high school distance running of anyone on the frosh track team members.

Divine had a high school best of 4:10 in the mile in his home state of Washington and in his senior year took first in the state in both cross-country and the mile.

Jackson has no less impressive credentials, finishing first in the two-mile at the Oregon state meet as a junior and running a 9:19.8 to finish second as a senior.

It is Bowerman's view that, "If their interest remains keen, they have the potential to become very fine runners." Both adhere to Bowerman's philosophy that school and running should be the only things to occupy a good track man.

Said Jackson, "I came here because of Bowerman's attitude. He doesn't baby his athletes."

Divine remarked, "I came here first to get an education and second for running."

In backing up their convictions, both Jackson and Divine train for two to three hours per day. Often times, the two will work out for a half-hour in the morning together, then practice two to three hours in the afternoon alone.

Began as Sprinter

Jackson took up running as a sprinter in the ninth grade at Grant High in Portland. Later in the year, he discovered that distance running was his forte, and as a sophomore, began running the 880, mile and two-mile. He posted best times of 1:57.3 in the 880 and 4:15.8 in the mile during the course of his high school career in addition to his fine two-mile clocking in the state meet.

Divine played football, basketball and hurdled as a sophomore at Columbia High in Vancouver, Washington, but the "turning point," as he put it, came when Oregon's NCAA miler Archie San Romani convinced him to turn his athletic efforts toward the mile after running with the Oregon freshman.

Divine captured the state cross country meet as a junior, but then broke his leg and couldn't compete for the rest of the year.

He can count among his high school achievements a 4:13 mile at the Oregon Indoor Track Meet, and a 1:51.8 880. His desire to run for Bowerman coupled with San Romani's influence led Divine to come to Oregon.

Like to "Hang Back"

Divine and Jackson both employ similar strategy in running. Said Jackson, "I wait behind 'til the last lap and then run to win."

Divine remarked, "I hang back. You have to run according to who you're running against. If he's got a superior kick, you've got to run fast to tire him out."

As a freshman here, Divine has run in both the Portland and Seattle invitationals, and finished third in the mile in both.

Both he and Jackson participated in the recent Willamette Relays where Jackson ran the three-quarter mile on the distance medley relay team which set a new meet record of 10:08.6.

Divine anchored this same team and ran a 4:13 mile. Jackson ran his all-time best of 9:11.5 in the two-mile at a recent all-comers freshman meet.

Jackson prefers not to speculate about his future. "I'll run the best I can. I don't know what my best will be yet, so I don't want to set any goals." Divine is more definite, setting as his goal the '68 Olympics.

Weather Postpones PSC-Oregon Game

The Oregon baseball team lost one to the weather Tuesday afternoon after Monday's rainstorm forced postponement of the scheduled doubleheader with Portland State College.

The late afternoon and evening storm left Howe Field unplayable, and one of the games has been re-scheduled for Wednesday at 3 p.m., field conditions permitting. The infield was being worked back into playing condition early Tuesday afternoon.

Don Kirsch, whose charges have now won seven games in a row, had not definitely made a choice of pitchers for the contest, but tentatively plans to give four of his sophomore hurlers a few innings work each.

Left-handers Mike Snow and Mike Nicksic, as well as Joe Kniser and Larry Hills are the possible pitchers.
