

Morgan Warns of War with Red China

By JIM SELLERS
Staff Writer

War with China is threatened by continuation of the United States' policy in Viet Nam of "the blind leading the blind" in support of "tinpot tyrants," U.S. Senate candidate Howard Morgan said Saturday night.

Morgan, who spoke before about 160 persons at Harris Hall at the Lane County Courthouse, is opposing Oregon fourth district congressman Robert Duncan for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination in the May 20 primary.

ASUO Senators Set Open Hours

ASUO Senator office hours for spring term have been set, according to Mike Donahue, chairman of the Senate Governing Committee. The Senate office is room 302 of the Student Union.

Students wishing to speak to their senator may do so during the following time periods:

Monday

8-9 a.m.—Sparky Petre
10-11 a.m.—Rod Roth
1-2 p.m.—John Moore
2-3 p.m.—Diana Lund, Skip Clemens

Tuesday

10-11 a.m.—Rich Jernstedt
11-12 a.m.—Chuck Pruitt, Henry Drummonds
12 a.m.-1 p.m.—Marvin Feuerberg, Gary Feuerberg
1-2 p.m.—Chuck Stout
2-3 p.m.—Mike Donahue
4-5 p.m.—Judy Fuller

Thursday

1-2 p.m.—Greg Foote
3-4 p.m.—Tom Page

Friday

10-11 a.m.—Tom Jernstedt
2-3 p.m.—Lee Bollinger
4-5 p.m.—Jim Douglas

"This nation will weep," Morgan said, "if we face China in a showdown." If Russia were to honor her mutual-defense treaty with China, Morgan continued, fighting would erupt in the streets of American and Russian cities. "When we get through with each other, China will have very few problems left . . . the people of this country would be reduced to peonage before the bill is paid."

Certification Form Available Now

Those students eligible for Oregon teacher certification by end of spring term should pick up application forms from the certification secretary in room 125-c, Education.

ple of this country would be reduced to peonage before the bill is paid."

Morgan attacked the administration policy on Viet Nam, adding that there are "too many blind followers in the Congress." He also assailed Duncan for his admission that he is a spokesman for the White House.

The American people have been told neither the truth of the origins and objectives of the war in Viet Nam nor about the day-to-day progress of the fighting, Morgan said.

"It is a civil war," Morgan continued, "despite Rusk's and McNamara's statements to the contrary. When the French were defeated, we took their place—militarily and psychologically," Morgan said. "We are the enemy now, just as France was."

Calls for Negotiations

Morgan called for negotiations with the Viet Cong, and for supporting free elections and any interim government which comes out of those negotiations. He said political amnesty should be declared for all factions in the war, and that an international program to reconstruct the country should be established.

He explained that this, followed by the withdrawal of troops under international supervision, "is not victory any more than Korea was victory," but that it could lead to an independent and unified Viet Nam.

President Johnson and Secretaries Rusk and McNamara have said they will meet with "anyone, anywhere, anytime" to negotiate, Morgan said, yet they refuse to talk with the Viet Cong. U.S. government statistics indicate that 90 to 95 per cent of the forces we are fighting are Viet Cong, he said.

"When we insist that we will negotiate only with North Viet Nam, it is as though King George III has announced his willingness to negotiate an end to the American Revolution, but only with the King of France," Morgan added.

Risk Civil War

As well as fighting in the Vietnamese civil war, Morgan said, we now also run the risk of fighting on the losing side of a "civil war within a civil war in South Viet Nam."

"The hard truth doesn't square at all with our pious platitudes about defending freedom, building democracy, and preserving the right of the Vietnamese to choose their own government," he said.

Referring to Sen. Wayne Morse's opposition to U.S. policy on the war, Morgan said that this was the first time that a committee in Congress had questioned hostilities that were in progress. "We need more of this," he added.
