

Recreation . . .

adjacent to the existing physical education building for new indoor recreation facilities and a location on the east side of the campus, near the dormitories, for outdoor facilities.

● Thirty-six said there had been times when they or friends had been unable to use existing facilities because they were already in use. Tennis courts was the most frequent facility cited here.

● Students would use a central pool of accessible outdoor equipment, such as softballs and footballs, which they could check out to use in non-P.E. areas.

● Students thought it was the responsibility of the University to allot space (45-4), to provide building (40-6), and to operate programs (26-20) for recreation.

Cross said the sample was not perfect but that it did indicate some things.

He said part of what he and Ellingson would try to make clear to the president was that increased use of existing recreational facilities is needed.

"We have expanding programs and expanding interests of the general student body, but a limited access to what we have," he said.

He cited facilities like Hayward Field and Howe Field, which are reserved for intercollegiate athletics.

"The same problem occurs to a pretty large extent with P.E. facilities," he added. "With growing numbers of people in required activities plus programs like judo and intramurals all growing but with the same hours of operation of facilities—we're reaching a stalemate."

Cross said it would be difficult to ask for more facilities "with classrooms and the Union going full bore until 11 but with this cut off at 9." He said it would be difficult to explain this to the State Board of Higher Education.

He said the cost factor for operating facilities more of the time was quoted to him this fall at $2,000.

But Cross laid the problem right in Flemming's lap.

"If he decides there is some merit to what we're talking about," Cross explains, "it's going to take a final directive from him."

Jr. Vice-President Candidate Filed

David Bohlman, a sophomore in liberal arts, has filed to run for junior class vice-president in the May 11 ASUO election.

Bohlman's name was erroneously omitted from the list of candidates printed on page one of Wednesday's Emerald.

Bohlman's petition raises to 42 the number of candidates filed for the election.

Employee Forms Due April 29

All University employees are reminded to return their new W-4 forms to the Payroll Office in Emerald Hall by Friday. Failure to comply will result in the employee being coded as single, regardless of marital status, for tax withholding purposes.

Briefing Center To Be Moved

The Student Union Board voted Wednesday to move the World Affairs Briefing Center from the basement of the Student Union to what is now the TV room, off the Fish Bowl.

The TV room will be moved to the former location of the Briefing Center, which is next to the Bottom-of-the-Bowl in the basement of the SU. The recommendation for the move came from the Board's House Committee.

The Board also looked at the problem of filling Student Union offices next year. Directorate Chairman Barb Scott said all committee chairmanships have been filled but several Board positions still haven't been filed for.

The Board decided to use a technique of personal approaches to individuals, rather than flying speeches.

All-Campus Sale Of Records Today

A record sale open to all members of the University community is being sponsored by the Recorded Classics Committee from 1 to 5 p.m. and from 6 to 8 p.m. today in the Bottom of the Bowl.

The sale is open to any type of music.

Those wishing to sell their records should affix their name and price they are asking to each record.

Correction

Charles Thomas is not a member of the Tongue Point faculty as was erroneously reported in Wednesday's Emerald. Thomas is an assistant professor of education at the University.

Thomas was also misquoted as saying that the Tongue Point Center "teaches boys how to conduct themselves." What he actually said was that the Center "should teach them how to conduct themselves."

Oregon Daily Emerald

The Oregon Daily Emerald is published five times in September and five days a week during the academic year, except during examination periods, by the Student Publications Board of the University of Oregon. Second-class postage paid at Eugene, Oregon 97403. Subscription rates $5 per year $2 per term.

Pilgrim Calls for Love . . .

group of neutrals into Viet Nam and hold the elections that should have been held in 1956. We get out then, and after the elections, the neutrals get out."

Later asked how the neutral nations would be chosen, Miss Pilgrim replied, "I don't think there would be a problem finding sufficiently neutral nations. The problem is getting our government to agree on this."

"We have no more right to dictate who should win (the elections) in Viet Nam than the Vietnamese have the right to dictate who should win here," Miss Pilgrim added.

Going back to the Viet Nam situation, she later said, "Can't you just see Johnson saying 'We have seen to it that democracy prevails in Viet Nam?'"

Dictatorship in U.S.

About the presidency, Miss Pilgrim said, "Our executive branch has much too much power. And you young people before me have to do something about this. This is terrible; it could become a dictatorship."

Asked how the power of the executive branch could be lessened, Miss Pilgrim suggested that better congressmen be elected. "Congress today is little more than a rubber stamp," she added.

"I commend our government on Wayne Morse," she said, adding that she has written to him several times. "I commend every good thing that comes, in order to strengthen it."

She continued that "Oregon has a good reputation for independence."

Speaking of her own devotion to walking for peace, Miss Pilgrim said that when she was younger she came to two conclusions: first, that money-making was easy; and second, that money-making was meaningless.

Giving and Getting

"I decided to give what I could instead of getting what I could," she said. "But there's a big difference between being willing to give your life and actually giving your life," she added. She said that 15 years ago, "I finally succeeded in giving my life. It was only at this point that I felt guided or pulled to start my pilgrimage for peace."

Miss Pilgrim spoke of the fast movement of history in the past

60 years, noting that her generation and those preceding it had done nothing to keep up with the social changes. "I've lived through World War I and World War II as well as the Korean War, and our people never protested against these wars."

"I certainly apologize for my generation and certainly do all I can to make amends," she said.

Love Never Fails

Miss Pilgrim stated the kernel of her philosophy to contain three parts: overcome evil with good, falsehood with truth, and hatred with love. "The law of love never fails ultimately," she said.

"The jungle law of tooth and claw just doesn't work," she said. "Our people today are suffering basically with immaturity. You place an immature man against an adversary and he will use the jungle law of tooth and claw."

"This law is no longer used acceptably in the family circle, the community, the state, or the United States," she said. "If you kill someone, sometimes your life is taken in return. This jungle law is absolutely forbidden except in the international situation."

Miss Pilgrim praised the Peace

Corps as an "official war prevention organization." She suggested two additions to further promote peace: one, establish a peace department in the government to do research officially for peace; and two, establish a world language to be taught as a second language.

Van Natta to Address Young Republicans

Fred Van Natta, executive director of the Lane County Central Committee, will discuss the local political campaign at a meeting of the Young Republicans at 7 p.m. today in the Student Union.

Other topics on the agenda include possible affiliation with the Student Political Union, plans for a Candidates' Fair during the ASUO elections, and the annual YR social function.

Senate to Consider ASUO Budget Today

The ASUO Senate will review the ASUO budget in its meeting today in the Student Union. Room number for the meeting will be posted.

Five ideal dates. Three dollars($3)

Join in the most adventurous experiment of our time. Operation Match. Let the IBM 7090 Computer (the world's most perfect matchmaker) stamp out blind dates for you.

Two Harvard juniors started it. 100,000 students have done it. Now you and 3,400,000 college students in 1500 colleges in 50 cities can sign up and join in!

Just send us the coupon. We'll send you the Operation Match Quantitative Personality Projection Test pronto!

Then return the questionnaire with $3.00. What you're like and what you like will be translated into our 7090's memory file. It will scan the qualifications of every member of the opposite sex from this geographic area. Then it will select the five or more matches best for you.

You'll receive your names, addresses and telephone numbers within three weeks. You'll be what your date is looking for. Your date will be what you are looking for. In other words: the matches will be mutual.

Dear IBM 7090,
I am 17 or over (and 27 or under) and I want to help stamp out blind dates. So mail me my questionnaire. Quick!
