

VISTA Drive Ends Today

Recruiters from Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) will conclude their visitation and recruitment at the University today.

Frank Timms and Vinette Jones, staff members of the national recruiting division for VISTA, will be in rooms 333 and 334 of the Student Union today to answer questions from students interested in joining the program. The rooms will open at 8 a.m.

Following a VISTA Week held at the University in late February, the University became one of the top-ranking institutions in the nation in recruitment for the "domestic Peace Corps."

Forty-eight persons from the University are now in service as VISTA volunteers in poverty areas throughout the country.

Figures reveal that more than 75 per cent of its Volunteers are college trained. Those selected for the program receive $50 a month which is banked for them by VISTA until their year is up, a living allowance, and free medical and dental care.

Oregon Daily Emerald

The Oregon Daily Emerald is published five times in September and five days a week during the academic year, except during examination periods, by the Student Publications Board of the University of Oregon. Second-class postage paid at Eugene, Oregon 97403. Subscription rates $5 per year $2 per term.

Most of the Volunteers are young—between 18 and 24. The basic requirement for becoming a VISTA Volunteer is that one must be at least 18 and a citizen of the U.S. There is no maximum age limit.

Students who wish to join are required to submit two applications, which may be obtained from the VISTA information center.

Talk to Regard Amazon River

Hilgard O'Reilly Sternberg, eminent geographer whose professional interests have taken him to the far corners of the earth, present an assembly on "Are the Tropics Viable?—An Answer from the Amazon" at 8 p.m. tonight in the Student Union. Sternberg is professor of geography at the University of California at Berkeley.

Born in Brazil, Sternberg was graduated from the Universidade do Brasil where he also received a doctorate in geography. He did postgraduate work at the University of California and received his Ph.D. from Louisiana State University. He has received an honorary doctorate from the Université de Toulouse.

His professional teaching experience has been at the Universidade do Brasil, where he was head of the geography department, and at Instituto Rio Branco (foreign service institute) of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and at Pontificia Universidade Catolica do Rio de Janeiro. He has been at California since 1964.

He has been director of the Center of Research in Geography in Brazil, was on the organizing committee of the eighteenth International Geographical Congress and is a former member of the UNESCO Advisory Committee for Arid Zone Research. He has also held a Guggenheim Fellowship.
