

University Gets Music Grant

The University has received a grant of $65,000 from the Music Educators National Conference (MENC) to establish one of five Institutes for Music in Contemporary Education in the temporary Music Project of the nation.

The contemporary music project is funded by the Ford Foundation.

Purpose of the institute is to strengthen the teaching of music on all levels by sharing of resources among participating universities and public schools.

Robert Trotter, dean of the School of Music, was named regional director of the institute, which will consist of a regional group of universities, colleges, and public school systems.

The University is administrative center for the northwestern region institute.

Musicianship education in depth for all music students will be the goal of the Institutes for Music in Contemporary Education.

Beginning next fall, each institute will undertake two-year pilot programs aimed at relating all musical studies—composition, education, history, performance, theory—and providing students with greater competence to deal with music as it exists and is created today.

The institute programs will also evaluate the effectiveness of music teaching process.

Five UO Athletes Enter National AAU Track Meet

Two former Oregon athletes will figure prominently in the featured mile run at the national AAU championships in New York this weekend.

There will be five Oregon or former Oregon athletes competing.

Ex-Webfoot milers Jim Grelle and Dyrol Burleson will challenge Kansas' freshman sensation Jim Ryun in the mile.

Grelle hasn't beaten Ryun since last year's final Olympic trials when Ryun edged him for the first time and won a place on the U.S. Olympic team.

Grelle has run more sub-four minute miles than any other athlete in history. At 29, he helped start the Oregon mile dynasty that has dominated the NCAA and AAU meets since the late 1950's.

But the veteran Grelle may skip the mile at New York and run the three-mile instead. The longer race will be more of a challenge, he says, and if he finishes first or second he would have a shot at the Russian national track team in one of their strongest events.

The first two finishers in all events in the AAU meet qualify for the team that will meet the Russians in Los Angeles July 23-24.

If Grelle doesn't run the mile it will still be a top duel.

It will be the first meeting this year between Ryun, the new ace of America's milers and the American record-holder at 3:55.7, and Burleson, who has been the nation's premier miler since 1959.

Ryun has never beaten Burleson, although their last meeting was in 1964. Burleson has run in the AAU meet four times and lost only once. He has stayed out of major competition this year although he has run under four minutes three times this spring. His best was a 3:57.3 in the Bob Wooddell Invitational in Eugene in June.

He says he feels in better shape than he has been all season.

He told the Portland Oregonian, "Since I've finished graduate studies at Oregon early this month, I've had an opportunity for regular training and regular sleep. I've put in two really good weeks of conditioning."

He says he's in "100,000 per cent better shape" than he was in the Wooddell meet.

Three other Oregon athletes are also entered, Wade Bell in either the mile or 880, Neal Steinhauer in the shot put, and Mike Lehner in the steeplechase.

Steinhauer is almost a cinch to make the U.S. team. He is the third best shot putter in history and the second best in the U.S. this season.

He'll make his third attempt of the year to beat Randy Matson of Texas A&M, the world record holder. Matson beat him the first two times, including last weekend in the NCAA championships.

Writer to Talk On Literature

Writer William Stafford will give a free public lecture at the University at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 150 Science.

The lecture, "Teaching Literature: A Writer's View," is sponsored by the National Defense Education Act English Institute being held through Aug. 12 on the University campus for 50 secondary school teachers from throughout the Northwest.

Stafford, who is on the English department faculty of Lewis and Clark College, has published a number of poems, articles and reviews.

Colleges and universities where he has recently lectured and read include Denison University in Granville, Ohio, Reed College, University of Montana, and Bowling Green State University in Ohio.

He will be on leave during the 1966-67 academic year to engage in creative writing on a grant from the Guggenheim Foundation.

Stafford is the first lecturer sponsored by the NDEA English Institute this summer. He will present an informal talk to Institute participants prior to the evening lecture.

ATTENTION Off-Campus Students

Students paying their own utility bills—that is, living off-campus where utilities are not included in the rent—should make their own arrangements with EWEB for starting and stopping electric service.

An order to start service saves the inconvenience of having your electricity turned off because the previous tenant ordered it stopped. An order to discontinue service saves the inconvenience of being billed for service after you leave Eugene or move to another location in town. It's simple; do it by phone!

Remember...

1. Call and apply for service—when you move in.
2. Call and stop service—when you move out.
3. Notifying your landlord that you are moving in or out is not enough. You must notify EWEB!
