

Dolphins Name 15 Semi-Finalists

Co-ops Await Parents' No Closing Hours Approval

By MAXINE ELLIOTT

Most University women past the freshman level residing in co-ops no longer have closing hours.

Earlier this week, Co-Ed Housing, Inc., governing body of the four women's co-ops, moved to implement the no-closing-hours policy by mailing permission forms to parents of sophomore and junior women wishing to be exempt. Seniors and women over 21 have been exempt since spring.

Earlier, policies had been approved by the Student Conduct Committee, in accordance with the Conduct Code.

According to Barbara Reid, Co-

Ed Housing president, the policy goes into effect as soon as the forms are returned. First returns are expected today.

"Buddy System"

Laurel House members will institute a "buddy system," Miss Reid said. Eligible women wishing to stay out after the regular closing will sign out and indicate expected time of return, as well as who will let them in at that time. Laurel House is housed in University-owned Hendricks Hall.

Women residing in Highland, Rebec and University Houses will be issued keys upon payment of a $5 deposit. Those wishing to check a key out for one night only may do so from the housemother, and no deposit will be required.

Infractions of rules and misuse of keys will result in action before the Standards Board of the house involved.

No Problems Seen

Miss Reid said she expected no problems arising from "mixed houses," since the system has worked well with seniors and women over 21 since last spring. Freshmen and sophomores and juniors without permission will abide by the regular 11 p.m. weeknight 1 a.m. weekend closing.

Number of women affected by the new policy is unknown at this time, Miss Reid said. She said 93 permission forms were mailed to parents of sophomores and juniors. Presently 157 women live in the four houses. Most of the remaining 64 women are seniors, who do not need permission and freshmen, she said.

Camp Interview On KWAX Today

There will be a broadcast of a taped interview with Bill Camp in Durham, North Carolina, at 9:30 p.m. today on channel KWAX - FM, 91.1 megacycles on the dial.

Camp, a former University student, was one of four Duke University graduate students ejected from a Ku Klux Klan rally last week. Last year he organized the University's ASUO poverty conference.

Camp told the Durham Morning Herald that he came to the aid of Donald Campbell, a reporter for the Duke campus newspaper, who had been told to leave the site of the rally by uniformed security police. He was grabbed by two security guards, led to a nearby road, and told to leave and never come back.

Subsequently, four other students were also grabbed by the guards as they protested Camp's removal. There were unconfirmed reports that the four were assaulted as they were led through the crowd.
