

University Theatre Presents 'Life of Dylan'

The short, stormy, uproarious life of Welsh poet Dylan Thomas will be paraded across the University Theatre stage at 8 p.m. today, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Tickets for "Dylan," a series of 29 vignettes based on Dylan Thomas' lecture tours in America during the last two years of his life are on sale at the University theatre box office. They are $1.50 each for weeknight performances, and $2 for weekends.

Dylan Thomas was one of the few people who ever becomes a legend in his own lifetime. His life was surrounded by raucous humor, wit and rowdiness. "Dylan" has captured much of the flavor of this remarkable man's days.

Sidney Michael's play is adapted from two of the best biographical studies of Dylan Thomas — "Leftover Life to Kill" by his wife, Caitlin, and "Dylan Thomas in America" by American poet John Malcolm Brinnin.

Michaels shows the women who chased Dylan and the women he chased.

The play is sometimes touched with sadness and poignancy, but for the most part, it is laced with the life spirit of this man who loved language, living and liquor, and died at an early age because of too much of each of these.

Horace Robinson, director of the University Theatre, directs this play. The set was designed by Anthony Kadlec.
