

Mischief Night?

Art Students Adorn Fountain

By STEVE KLINE
Emerald Staff Writer

The night before last, which is known throughout the free world as "Mischief Night," several stealthy ghouls and goblins, cleverly disguised as art and architecture students, gave vent to their artistic inhibitions on the fountain at Lawrence Hall.

Inspired with the true Halloween spirit, they festooned the fountain with garlands of plumbing supplies, known more specifically as "toilet bowls" or "toilets" (depending upon how whimsical you are).

One observer noted that it was the first "psychedelic happening" to occur at the University since the fountain itself appeared on the scene.

Mysterious Appearance

Legend has it that the fountain, which in the past has won such accolades as "architectural disaster," and "monstrosity" mysteriously appeared on the scene one Halloween morning. The University, sensing a bargain (there was no cost involved), declared under its power of the Divine Intervention Act that the fountain could remain to balance an otherwise aesthetic landscape. The Mischief Night goblins, it is believed, had originally hoped the decorations would last through the Christmas season, at which time they planned to add strings of colored lights.

Artwork Removed

They were thwarted, though, as workmen converged on the scene Monday and quickly removed the offending artwork, thereby restoring the fountain to its former splendor of dead leaves, puddles of stagnant water, and assorted fungi.

They neglected, however, to remove the fountain.

Commenting on the incident, an official from the School of Architecture and Allied Arts said, "We sympathize with the students. We don't like the sculpture, either, but we haven't been able to find anyone to haul it away."

Writing Honorary Announces Policy

Chi Delta Phi, national women's creative writing and literature honorary, announces an open membership policy for all interested University women. Manuscript submissions for prospective members are now being accepted.

Beta Beta, the University chapter of Chi Delta Phi, will meet once or twice a month. Programs for these meetings will alternate between manuscript readings and speakers of general interest, fields of endeavor connected with writing and literature.

Beta Beta also holds tentative plans for staging an open house workshop for all interested students with one of the state schools' poets-in-residence.

Persons desiring additional information may contact Roberta Nudo, chapter president, at either Laurel House, Hendricks, extensions 2282, 2281, or 1908, or through Next, student literary magazine.

Recruiters Will Visit Campus

Captain William E. Mickey and First Lt. Ronald Rigby, Air Force officer selection representatives, will visit the University Wednesday to discuss the Air Force Officers Training School (OTS) program with interested students.

In announcing the visit, Staff Sergeant Billy Johnson, local Air Force recruiter, explained that the OTS program offers the opportunity for both male and female college graduates to obtain commissions as Air Force second lieutenants by completing a three month training course.

While here primarily to discuss OTS, the visiting officers will also be prepared to answer questions concerning the various other commissioning programs offered by the Air Force, such as aviation cadets, nurse corps and medical specialist corps.

The officers will be available from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday on the SU Terrace for all interviews. Appointments may be arranged through the Eugene Air Force recruiting office, phone 343-2021 or 343-2052.

Deadline to File For Degree Set

The list of degree candidates for fall graduation is being compiled by the Registrar. Deadline for filing for a fall term degree is November 11. This date will be enforced in order to complete checking and printing of the list.

All work must be completed and transcripts from other schools filed not later than December 16. Any student who applied previously and did not receive a degree must reapply. If the above deadlines are not met, the student must reapply at a future date.

Senate Candidates To Talk on KWAX

This evening KWAX, the campus FM station, will present the final program in a series of discussion interviews with candidates for Senator-at-Large. Randy Gragg, Chip Megeath, John Reeder, Valerie Scott, and Jim Sherry are tentative guests for the live 8:30 p.m. program. KWAX is located at 91.1 mc. on the FM dial.

Dolphin Queen Gets Trophy, Is Crowned

Claudia Dobmay, a 19-year-old sophomore in pre-law, is the new Dolphin Queen.

She was chosen by the Dolphin Club and was crowned at their dance, "Spirit Stomp," Saturday night.

She was Miss Coos County 1965. At the University, she has been a member of Frosh 200, president of Sweetser Hall, member of Inter-Dorm Council; she belongs to Pi Beta Phi.

Miss Dobmay said her thoughts as she was crowned Saturday night turned to Halloween because "I looked like the Great Pumpkin's sidekick, in my orange bathing suit and black heels."

She was nonplussed at not being mentioned in the Emerald Friday. Her picture appeared along with the other members of the court, but her name was inadvertently left out of the caption.

Apparently her picture was enough, because Dolphin members voted her their queen and presented her with their trophy.
