

Bruins Drop Oregon...

players you'll find around here that could even make the UCLA team."

The game started with the fairy tale like twist with which the Ducks were wishing it could end.

Belko sent Mike Nicksic, his 5-11 guard complement to Jones, in to jump against Alcindor.

Alcindor, with Nicksic doing little more than watching, proceeded to bat the ball in the direction of a teammate, only to have Duck forward Bill Thomas jump in front at the last second and intercept.

For the next 1:45, Oregon proceeded—with the exception of a single shot by Kenny Smith—to pass the ball around, either looking for openings (Belko's explanation), or stalling (Wooden's).

Then Warren reached in, stole the ball from Nicksic, raced down the court, dropped it in, and gave the Bruins the lead they were never going to lose.

Less than 15 seconds later, Warren did it again, and it was 4-0.

Alcindor scored the next field goal about 30 seconds later, and by the time Oregon had its first point—off a free throw by Kenny Smith with nearly four minutes gone—UCLA was already in front by eight.

Still, Oregon for the next few minutes rallied gamely to make a contest of it.

Smith and Jones, according to Belko, began "watching their shots," and in the process hit everything in sight.

By the time seven minutes had elapsed, the duo had each added two more field goals to the Oregon collection, and—with help from a 20-footer by Pinkstaff—moved the score to 14-11.

The game remained close during the next 30 seconds, Shakelford (a tip-in) and Smith (a long baseliner) exchanging baskets. Then the Bruins began to move ahead for good.

Shakelford hit a 10-foot jumper, a free throw, and Warren a 23-foot jumper to give the Uclans a 23-13 bulge. With exactly half the first half gone, Thomas ended the Bruin spree with a free throw.

Back UCLA came. A 9-4 scoring advantage in the next four minutes gave them a 32-18 lead.

By the time the half ended, Allen had scored 16 points, Warren 11, Alcindor 8, and the Bruins 49. Oregon, despite 10 points each from Smith and Jones, had 32.

Shooting percentages at that point were impressive in a game with that much scoring. UCLA was .553 from the field, and Oregon .545.

In the first two and one-half minutes of the second half, the Ducks made another bid for glory. Pinkstaff, with two field goals, Smith, Jones, and Bob Craven all had a hand in bringing the visitors back to within 13, 53-40.

"We were doing all right until this point," Belko said after the game. "Then we started shooting too much. We got too eager."

Alcindor also got hot.

The Bruin took a rim shot by Heitz and dropped it in, and scored a point-a-minute for the first 10 minutes of the second half, before being taken out with about six minutes remaining.

The Ducks continued to shoot well in the second half, finishing the game with a .542 from the field. The Bruins, however, shot .600 off more attempts and continued to increase its lead.

The only bit of suspense offered in the final quarter of action was whether or not UCLA would score 100.

A jumper by Dick Lynn with 24 seconds remaining answered that question. And the UCLA cheering section went wild for the final time.

Neither Wooden nor anyone else around, however, felt Oregon had disgraced itself.

"They are a good-shooting team," the UCLA coach offered in final tribute. "Much better than we had expected."

Southern California.

Southern California used a full-court press to wreck havoc with Oregon's offense in the first half, causing Belko to send his boys through two hours of work-out the following morning in preparation for similar tactics by UCLA.

The Trojans used a zone defense throughout the game.

Geologists Publish

Two University geologists have published an article on approximately 390,000,000 year old fossils. Dr. Walter Youngquist, professor of geology, and M. Allen Heinrich of Honolulu, Hawaii, teaching assistant in geology, are co-authors of the article, "Late Devonian Conodonts from the Lost Burro Formation of California," which appeared in the July issue of the Journal of Paleontology.
