Tribute Paid Drummonds

SALEM (AP) — Senator Glen Stadler (D-Eugene), paid tribute Thursday to ASUO President Henry Drummonds, who gave up his draft deferment.

Drummonds said it was undemocratic to defer college students.

Stadler said it was heartening to hear of a Drummonds in these days when you hear more of what he called the kooks on college campuses.

"I am proud and I am sure all the senate is proud of him," said Stadler in a Senate speech.

Don Wilson (R-Eugene), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, predicted Thursday that the House would vote Friday by about a 45-15 margin for a new state constitution.

But the Senate is not expected to buy the House version, which would concentrate power in the hands of the governor. The Senate-passed version makes few changes, being largely a rewrite job.

This means that the measure would go into a Senate-House conference committee which will try to compromise differences.

Under the house version, there would be a governor and lieutenant governor who would run together as a team. They would be the only statewide constitutional elective officers, although the legislature could create other offices to be elective by the people.

The proposal to change Oregon's all-comers presidential primary election law is dead.

At least that is what Representative William F. Gwinn (R-Albany), says.

"We scheduled one hearing on it, and no one turned up. I can't find anyone who is for it. As far as I am concerned, no one will ever hear of it again," says Gwinn, who is chairman of the House Elections Committee.

Under present law Secretary of State Clay Myers must put on the ballot all generally recognized presidential candidates. A candidate can withdraw only by swearing he is not a candidate. The proposed change would have let a candidate withdraw without so swearing.

Campus Briefs

Announcements for Campus Briefs must be turned in by 3 p.m. the day before publication. Because of space limitations no announcements will be run more than twice.

Frat Bell Object Of Money Raising

The Phi Kappa Psi fraternity has added a challenging flare to World University Service week on campus.

The Phi Psi's have challenged numerous campus sororities to steal their house bell, all to the benefit of WUS Week money raising.

The fraternity bell is estimated at weighing between 50 and 250 pounds, and if any of the competing sororities should succeed in stealing it before midnight tonight the Phi Psi's will donate $20 to the WUS Week fund.

Also, each participating sorority has had to pay a $3 entrance fee, all of which will be donated to WUS Week.

Sororities competing are Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Omicron Pi, Delta Gamma, Delta Zeta, Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Observatory Site Approved for UO

BEND (AP) — The Deschutes forest service district has issued a permit to the University of Oregon for constructing an astronomical observatory on Pine Mountain, 35 miles southeast of Bend.

Don Peters, forester at the Deschutes headquarters, said the permit covers from three to four acres. A final survey will be made when the snow melts at the site.

The district also approved plans for a residence where observers will live.

The University has applied for a National Science Foundation grant to install a 24-inch reflector telescope at the site.

Cost of setting up the proposed science center has been estimated at $250,000. The University has asked Central Oregon residents to donate $30,000 in matching funds.

R. J. Donnelly, head of the University physics department, has ordered the scope.

Students Develop Alternative Plan

A group of student from the School of Architecture and Allied Arts announced Wednesday that they have developed an alternative plan for the new AAA school.

The plan is to be published in "Show and Tell" the student publication of the AAA school.

According to Hank Morrow, an editor of the magazine, the new basic concept for the school will be accompanied by a student statement of the Art Department program as well as articles contributed by both students and faculty.

The Living God

Anyone whose life has been touched by the healing power of divine Love, anyone whose prayers have brought a glimpse of what it means to be spiritually alive, knows from his own experience about "the living God" spoken of in the Bible. Awareness of His presence comes in different ways to each individual, but it grows only with deep prayer and study. Christian Science Reading Rooms and church services are there to help. You are always welcome.
