

SU Board Elects Officers, Chairmen

The Student Union Board elected the rest of its 1967-68 officers Wednesday following approval of a new board organizational structure.

After five ballots, Mark Stephens was elected vice chairman. He will preside over the program council, composed of the following division chairman, also elected Wednesday: forum, Bob Bartlett; cultural, Allyn Brown; social, Sue Gordon; personnel, Jim Mosman; public relations, Mark Marsh; and recreation, R. C. Owens.

The program council and the six divisions replace the old directorate and 10 committees.

The board also approved a standing committee — research and development — and elected Bill Hershman as chairman.

The other six board members are automatically members of the house council. They will serve on ad hoc committees.

In other business the board decided to give the Arnold Air Society a more favorable split of the profits of the Bob Hope concert, September 29. Hope can appear only through the auspices of the AAS.

Last week the board voted to keep the first $3,000 net profit, give AAS the next $1,000, and split any remainder 75-25, in the board's favor. The new proposal provides a 50-50 split after the $3,000 and $1,000.

Net profits will probably be $4,000 to $5,000, but may be as high as $9,000 if there's a sell-out, according to Board Chairman Tom Nash.

The board tabled discussion on its temporary lawn structures policy, pending research of other locations for tents, etc.

The straw vote revealed most board members would like to permit no structures at all on the SU lawn.

Op Cit Requests Male Volunteers

Male volunteers are needed to help in a tutoring program this summer in the Fern Ridge School District near Eugene, according to members of Operation Citizenship.

Designed to help drop-out prone low income teenagers to remain in school, the program would make use of remedial materials in reading, spelling and mathematics.

Tutors would receive training in the use of remedial and testing materials, and in tutorial dynamics.

Actual time expenditure should run between seven and ten hours a week. Because sessions are to be scheduled in the evenings, they should not interfere with summer classes at the University.

Practicum credit would be available through the education department for work in the program.

New York Troupe To Perform Plays

Leroi Jones, a foremost Negro playwright who won the Obie (off-Broadway) Award for the Best Play of the Year three years ago, will perform at the University Friday at 7 and 9 p.m. in the Student Union.

Jones and his seven-member troupe from the Black House, a cultural political center for the national advancement of black people located in San Francisco, will read poetry and perform two plays, "The First Militant Preacher" and "How Do You Do?"

Jones, a "voice as promising as any in the modern theatre," according to a Los Angeles Times critic, was the Obie Award for his play "Dutchman," which played almost a year in New York and has since been produced successfully in many European cities.

Tickets for Friday's performances are on sale at the main desk of the SU. Prices are $1.50 for seats in the back section of the ballroom; $2.25, middle section; and $2.75, front section.

Students Cheer Fairview Walls

"Operation Sunshine," a project designed to brighten the lives of mentally retarded children at Fairview Home in Salem, was launched Saturday by three University students.

The project, executed by students Donna Covalt, Elaine Onishi, and Robert Shaaf, involved painting the walls of several cottages with 12 four by four and six by six stencils of multi-colored animals.

The students were using a kit supplied by the Instructional Materials Center at 1676 Columbia which, they said, is on loan for other groups interested in similar projects—especially organizations and institutions in the field of special education.

'Music Man' Meredith Willson To Host May Activities

Meredith Willson, known to millions of people the world over as "The Music Man," will highlight what has been officially declared "Meredith Willson Day" by appearing tonight as star host of the May Festival, to be held at 8 p.m. today in McArthur Court.

The appearance of the conductor-composer, who has won international acclaim with his two hit musicals, "The Music Man" and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown," marks the start of a sustained local drive to raise funds for a center for the performing arts.

Tonight's program, sponsored by the Lane County Auditorium

Association, will feature the versatile Willson in a number of monologues, and a special musical number in which he will direct a selected all-city Eugene high school band in an on-stage rehearsal of Sousa's "The Washington Post March." Willson, who played with Sousa as a teenager, will explain the different characteristics that made the Sousa band distinctive.

His monologues will include reminiscences of his experiences under Sousa, and of his later work as a flutist for the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, then under the direction of Arturo Toscanini. Such recollections were the basis for an autobiographical work and a novel written by Willson several years ago, and both books — "And There I Stood With My Piccolo" and "Who Did What With Fidelia," were best-sellers which met with much critical acclaim.

In addition to Willson's performance, tonight's program will feature a University brass ensemble medley of Willson's songs, including "76 Trombones," under the direction of Ira Lee.

Other groups to appear in the festival include the Eugene Symphony, Eugene Gleemen, Women's Choral Group, Eugene Ballet Classique, Junior Symphony, Collegium Musicum, and the University Singers.

Admission is $1. Patrons who pay $10 receive two reserved seat tickets to the performance, and are entitled to a sizeable tax deduction, as are donors who contribute $25 or more.

All remaining tickets may be purchased at the main desk of the Student Union, Eugene Chamber of Commerce, Mattox Pipe Shop, Heath's Wonder Fabrics, the Mandarin Restaurant, and Hand's Jewelers.

ATTENTION Off-Campus Students

Students responsible for their own utility bills—that is, living off-campus where utilities are not included in the rent—should make their own arrangements with EWEB for starting and stopping electric service.

The term is about over, and for many this means a move involving discontinuance of service. It's easy, it can be done by phone.

Remember...

- Call and stop service—When you move out
- Notifying your landlord that you are moving out is not enough. You must notify EWEB.
