

Freedom, Luxury Claimed By Independent College Inn

Freedom and luxury are claims of the College Inn, the new independent dormitory located at 1000 Patterson St.

According to co-manager Wyeth G. Williams, the Inn provides a style of living with more freedom of action than University dormitories, but, unlike apartments, it enforces certain minimum regulations designed to protect its residents.

These regulations seem to have been a surprise to a few, he said, as they apparently expected to be living in a large apartment house with few or no restrictions.

Others, he added, appear grateful for the management's effort to insure their welfare, and for the extra privacy afforded by restricted visiting hours.

Williams said he feels the College Inn has been well received by the campus and the community, and has proven an effective bridge spanning the gap between University dormitory and apartment living.

The rates are somewhat higher than those of University dormitories, but the management claims the cost is "consistent with the sort of treatment the student will receive here."

For instance, Williams said, the Inn caters to the student by varying the often tiresome cafeteria line with meals served buffet style, "Around the World" style (selected foods from foreign countries), and high class style—steak is served once a week.

Internal organization of the College Inn is headed by Wyeth Williams and his wife, who serve as "co-managers, along with an assistant manager, an associate student manager, and individual floor counselors.

The College Inn at Eugene is affiliated with the nationally organized College Inns of America Incorporated, based in Dallas, Texas. Other existing College Inns include those in Albuquerque, New Mexico; Boulder and Ft. Collins, Colorado; and Denton, Texas; with proposed Inns in Reno, Nevada; Corvallis, Oregon; Santa Barbara, California; and Tempe, Arizona.

Eberhart to Read Original Compositions

Pulitzer-prize winning poet Richard Eberhart will read his own poetry at the University Friday at 8 p.m. in 150 Science. Eberhart is currently a professor of English and Poet-in-Residence at Dartmouth College.

He was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for poetry for 1966 for his latest book, "Richard Eberhart: Selected Poems 1930-1965." In 1962 he was co-winner of the Bollingen Prize from Yale University Library.

Eberhart, who at one time was a tutor to the son of King Prajadhipok of Siam, has had a long and distinguished career as a poet, serving as a poet-in-residence and professor or lecturer at such institutions as the University of Washington, the University of Connecticut, and Wheaton College, in addition to Dartmouth.

His first book, appearing in 1930, was titled, "A Bravery of Earth." "Reading the Spirit" appeared in 1936, and his "Selected Poems" came out in 1951.

Other books include: "Undercliff, Poems 1946-1953," "Great Praises," "Collected Poems, 1930-1960" and "The Quarry (1964)". His books are published concurrently in England and America. A new book, "31 Sonnets," is scheduled for publication this spring.

A contributor of book reviews to the New York Times and critical articles here and abroad.

Eberhart was a founder and first president of Poets' Theatre, Inc., Cambridge, Massachusetts in 1950.

President Eisenhower appointed Eberhart to the advisory committee on the Arts for the National Cultural Center in Washington in 1959, and he is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

In fall of 1965 he gave the first annual memorial lecture on Robert Frost at the San Francisco public library.

GOING TO BE DIS-CONNECTED?

Many faculty members and students will be having their telephone service discontinued for the summer. And, we are going to go "all-out" to give good service to the many calls for summer disconnects.

But—so many calls all at once take time to handle and can cause a last minute jam.

So, to help avoid the rush and make sure of prompt service, we have mailed you a postage free return postcard for your use in connection with telephone service changes. Please send it in as soon as you receive it, or if you'd prefer, call our Business Office (345-1501) today. We'll arrange for your service disconnect at a time that's convenient for you. You'll be helping us—to help you get away faster.

Have a happy Summer—and for you who will be back, we'll look forward to reconnecting your phone service in the fall.
