

Convocation on Kerner Report Begins Course on City Problems

A public convocation on the Kerner Report at 7:30 Monday night in the EMU Ballroom will also be the first class meeting for the new SEARCH course titled Inter-disciplinary Seminar on the Kerner Report.

University President Arthur S. Flemming will be the main speaker.

The objectives of the seminar are to examine in depth the social, political and economic implications of the racial and central city problems.

The seminar's format will consist of four general assemblies in the initial meetings, and then a breakdown of the class into small groups which will meet and work for the four following weeks. Then, for the remainder of the term, all students will meet again in assembly for the purpose of re-integration.

The School of Education, the political science and sociology departments and the marketing, insurance and transportation and financing and business environment departments in the School of Business Administration are offering the course jointly.

In addition, nine faculty members are available to work with students as consultants and resource persons during the course of the seminar.

They are Herb Titus, associate professor of law; Jack Maddex, assistant professor of history; Philip Runkel, research associate in psychology; William Dale, head of the urban planning department; Donald Watson, director of the Bureau of Business and Economic Research; Robert Mertz, assistant professor of speech; Robert Agger of the political science department; Ed Whitelaw, assistant professor of economics; and John Hulteng, dean of the School of Journalism.

STUDYING ABROAD?

*Students who've been there,
tell students who are going.*

*where the

On a rock-bottom budget (well under $7 a day!) in Europe, the Bahamas, Bermuda, Jamaica, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Hawaii

• In this totally new guidebook, students who have lived and traveled in the countries they write about give you personal, detailed I-was-there reports on the in places for the high spirit, low budget jet set. They tell you where the fun is — where to go, where to eat, where to stay, where to shop, where to play, where to meet people. Where to swing: bistros, coffee-houses, ski resorts, surfing beaches, non-sightseeing sights. Plus straight facts about local life and local color and how to live with it. Price $2.95
