

Campus Happenings

Today

THE EUGENE SCHOOL bond issue and other related topics will be discussed at a public meeting at 8:30 p.m. today at Harris Hall in downtown Eugene.

Harmon Ziegler, professor of political science, Robert Agger, head of the Institute of Comparative Research, and Al Bloom, associate professor of religion, will speak. Bloom is expected to make charges of student behavior at South Eugene High School. An unidentified school board member is also expected to speak. The program is being sponsored by the Citizens for Better Education.

"ISRAEL IN EGYPT" by George Frederic Handel will be presented by the complete University voice faculty under the direction of Royce Saltzman, the University choral director, at 8 p.m. today and Thursday in the School of Music Recital Hall.

The University Chorale, the University Singers, and the Symphony Orchestra will present the program along with the faculty.

BRITISH SEMANTICIST I. A. Richards will speak at the University on "The Responsibilities of the Writer" at 8 p.m. today in the Erb Memorial Union ballroom.

Richards is one of the language experts who provided the philosophical basis for the "New Criticism." He collaborated with C. K. Ogden on "The Meaning of Meaning," a book published in 1923 which has been influential in several academic fields.

KOREAN AND East Asian politics will be the topic of Soon Sung Cho, visiting professor in the department of political science at the Browsing Room lecture at 7:30 p.m. today in the EMU. "North Korea and the Sino-Soviet Conflict" will be discussed by Cho.

LAW DAY ceremonies speaker today will be Eugene Scoles, newly-appointed dean of the University law school.

Scoles will discuss "Law and Your Kind of World" at the Law Day luncheon of the Lane County Bar Association, in the Eugene Hotel. The public may attend the 12:30 p.m. speech, although only limited seating will be available.

JOHNSON Hall sleep-in veterans will hold a rally at the Free Speech Platform at noon to select representatives to the Presidential Search Committee.

Future

KWAX CONTROVERSY is presenting candidates from both major political parties that are running in the primaries during the next few weeks. Ed Fadeley, State Democratic Chairman and 4th district congressional candidate will be interviewed at 8 Thursday night by KWAX newsman, Barry Katz. Phone calls will be taken at ext. 2418 while the show is in progress.

Students are invited to view the programs live as space permits. Anyone wishing to do so should be in the studio on third floor Villard by 7:45 p.m.

Mostly General

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL implications of modernization in emerging African nations will be studied by Michael Armer, assistant professor of sociology at the University, next year in Senegal and France.

Armer has been selected for a Fellowship for Younger Scholars by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

The endowment's program is designed to enable the individual researcher to broaden his perspective and to develop scholarly competence in a secondary field by providing him with time and opportunity for such development.

SUMMER Project '68 is being sponsored by Operation Citizenship and needs volunteers. Summer Project '68 is being operated in conjunction with the VISTA Training Center and the School of Community Service and Public Affairs.

Summer Project '68 will present an opportunity for students and community people to explore different facets of their community and become actively involved in short-term projects. Cottage Grove will probably be the center for the project.

For more information call Cliff Breslow at ext. 1806 or Jeffrey Cheyne at ext. 1662.

WALTER CREESE, dean of the School of Architecture and Allied Arts, has been named one of eight persons throughout the country to receive one-year post-doctoral research grants for the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. Selections are made by the American Council of Learned Societies.

Creece will receive a grant of approximately $9,500 to conduct a study on "The Relationship of Government and Art from Colonial Times to Present." He will use the grant during 1969-70 while on sabbatical leave from the University.
