

MANY OFF-CAMPUS cites include beautiful patio areas like the one shown here.

Living Opportunities Cover Full Spectrum of Contrasts

Availabilities in off-campus living could be said to cover a spectrum of contrasts.

The range of types of living accommodations and costs is extreme, or as the Oregana year-book stated last year:

"Some are expensive: matching furniture, stainless steel kitchens, pole-lamps spreading light evenly throughout the room, carpeting wall-to-wall.

"Some are cheap: furnished with goodwill chairs, a rusty fry-pan for a kitchen, bare bulbs trying to invade darkened corners, carpeted only with a floor well-worn."

With the range between the extremes, the Eugene-Springfield area provides something for everybody. This fact can be attested to by glancing through the inspected housing lists made available to students by the University Housing Office.

In the area of furnished apartments, the following possibilities exist among 500 listings:

- One bedroom — ranging from a high of $190 to monthly to a low of $40.

- Two bedrooms — ranging from $190 to $50.

- Three bedrooms — with a high of $185 and a low of $80.

- Four bedrooms — one listing at $140.

- Five bedrooms — two listings at $140.

In the category of furnished rooms for men the 69 listings include:

- One bedroom — from $90 to $12.

- Two bedrooms — from $90 to $25.

- Three bedrooms — from $90 to $25.

- Four bedrooms — from $38 to $35.

In the area of furnished rooms for women the 127 listings include:

- One bedroom — from $95 to $5.

- Two bedrooms — from $60 to $22.

- Three bedrooms — from $40 to $29.

- Four bedrooms — from $40 to $25.

Roughly the same possibilities exist among the 46 listings of rooms for either men or women.

In the unfurnished apartment realm, 142 listings include the following possibilities:

- One bedroom — from $130 to $40.

- Two bedrooms—from $166 to $40.

- Three bedrooms — $190 to $177.

Though only extremes, these figures represent the many possibilities open to student apartment or room hunters.

Before deciding to live in a particular spot, students should be sure they understand all that their rent entails. Special attention should be given to working out arrangements for payment of electricity, gas, water and trash disposal.
