wants to express, why must it be expressed in obscene, vulgar terms and illustrations. Why can't an idea be expressed in just plain English without playing upon ones emotions.

If the only way a person or group can gain attention to an idea, is by using obscene and vulgar devices, then I would question the value of the idea, for if an idea is worthwhile, it should be able to gain people's attention and support without having to appeal to the emotions.

No, the restrictions of the legislature will not violate the true meaning of free speech and press. It will only ruffle the feathers of those who hide behind the rights concerning free speech and press to see just how far they can go in saying or printing any and all licentious thoughts and pictures that enter into their mind.

HELP YOURSELF BY HELPING OTHERS:

Juvenile delinquents and other troubled young people with whom I work think that they're the only persons with problems and that their problems are unique. They desperately need to become aware that others also have problems. Please help them (and also yourself) by letting them know that they're not really alone. Write about your problems, successes, failures, and feelings. I will forward suitable letters to them. All correspondence is confidential, anonymity is optional, but the youths might wish to write to those of you who desire it. These youths can often help you as much as you help them. It's up to you.
