

Grads must apply

The registrar's office is compiling the list of degree candidates for the March 14, 1969, graduation convocation.

The last day upon which degree applications can be filed is Friday.

To qualify for a degree, all transcripts from other schools must have been filed and all current University work finished not later than March 21.

Any student who has applied previously and did not receive the degree must reapply. Any student who does not meet the above deadlines must reapply for a future date.

Students should apply for aid now

Students wishing financial aid next year must apply now, rather than spring term, under a new, speedier application system, Francis Nickerson, dean of financial aid, announced Monday.

The speedier system will allow students to know whether and how much aid they will have before the end of this school year, Nickerson said.

In addition, students planning to continue on the work-study program this summer must fill out a new form, Nickerson emphasized.

Applications are available in 274 Emerald Hall.

Under the new system, a student needs to fill out only a single form to be eligible for any and all types of financial aid the University offers, Nickerson said.

This includes scholarships, loans, grants and work-study.

Nickerson stressed swift application.

"The money goes fast, and it will go on a first come, first served basis," he said.

Nickerson said his office asked the U.S. Congress for a total of $3,260,000 for next year's aid.

That request was reviewed and cut by the Financial Aids Policy Committee, a regional government agency. The committee passed a total $1,988,674 recommendation on to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

Nickerson said he expects HEW to cut more, as much as 80 per cent of the first year educational opportunity request.

Students file for senate posts

Fifty-seven filed petitions for 15 ASUO Senate openings, an ASUO secretary said Wednesday.

The petitions, along with material each candidate wished published in the ASUO voters' guide, was due at noon Wednesday. The guide will be issued after the primary and will only include the two primary winners for each position.

The primary is Feb. 20 and 21. The general election is Feb. 27 and 28.

For the three openings for senator-at-large, Dave Jennings, Phil Barnhart and Tommy Lee Anderson filed for position four. Rick Rittle, Linda Stewart, Mark Gunderson and Alan Mandelberg filed for position five. Al Rossma, Mitch Cramer, Xavier Bonilla, Dave Wilkie and Kent Garlinghouse filed for position six.

For three dormitory openings—Dave Hytowitz, Mike Kement, Richard Chasm filed for position four; Barbara Rock, Michael Hill, Vic Roth, position five; and James Roberts, Jeff Sholian, Ivory

Reporters needed

The Emerald needs more reporters.

Neither experience nor a major in journalism is necessary, but dependability and willingness are vital.

For details see Jaqi Thompson or Doug Onyon in the Emerald office, 301 Allen.

Harris and Jeffery Hyde, position six.

Richard Nasfziger, Vance Jacobson, John Lowe and Jim Eller filed for the sorority/fraternity position.

There are eight off-campus openings. Jerry Gouche, Delbert Pancake and Dave Harris filed for position nine. Roger Mellem, Barry Goggin, Bill Keenan and Jim Tiger filed for position 10.

Filing for position 11 are John Perry, Eric Blackledge, Greg Jones and Amy Alpert.

Filing for position 12 are Dave Gwyther, Bruce Hill, Gaines Smith and Larry Couture. Susan Eickelman, Dennis Nelson, Hugh Lee and Jay Cross filed for position 13. Blaine Ackley, Roger Wann, Tom English and Walter Wentz filed for position 14. Position 15 was filed for by Mike Brownsworth, Dana Anderson, Russell Husted and Ron Holm. John Wilson, Jim Johnson, Jim Wickre and Margie Duxbury filed for position 16.

According to the ASUO, student status of all the candidates had been checked and they are all eligible to run. This is the only requirement to run for the ASUO Senate.
