

OSU appoints Young new acting president

CORVALLIS AP - Roy Young, 48, dean of research has been appointed acting president of Oregon State University. He replaces James Jensen who will retire June 30 after eight years as president.

Young is former head of the department of botany and plant pathology. He became OSU's first dean of research in 1966 and administers about 600 separate research projects for the university. He has been on the faculty for 21 years. He is a graduate of New Mexico State University and received his master's and doctor's degree from Iowa State University.

Chancellor Roy Lieuallen announced the appointment Monday. He said Young will serve until a permanent president is chosen by the State Board of Higher Education.

Center for aged receives grant

Can people be prepared, through education, for retirement? A summer institute at the University this year will try to find out.

The University's Center for Gerontology has received $31,362 from the Administration on Aging of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to conduct a unique institute.

Frances Scott, director of Center of Gerontology, will direct the six-week program.

Persons who attend the institute will be trained to work with the aging in educational settings. The program will be divided into three two-week units:

- Orientation to the scientific study of aging.
- Adaptations necessary in education of the elderly.
- Demonstration of a retirement education program.

Students may take any of the three-week units, or all three. Persons interested in enrolling in the institute, which will begin June 30 at the University and conclude Aug. 8, should contact the Center for Gerontology.

Advisory Council elects members

The University faculty has elected six of its members to serve on the Advisory Council for the coming academic year.

The Council acts in an advisory capacity to the University president in matters of faculty promotion, tenure, and recruitment.

The newly-elected Council includes Wendell Basye, professor of law; Edmund Cykler, professor of music; Arthur Mittman, professor of music; Earl Pomeroy Beekman, professor of Northwest and Pacific History; John Sherwood, professor of English; and James Tattersall, associate professor of economics.

Hans Linde, professor of law, was elected as the professional school representative on the Faculty Senate.

Getting into an air-inducted head-turner these days is a snap. If you don't mind swallowing a rather large and lumpy chunk of price tag.

Well, the good Doc, bless him, has just crowbarred the rule book all out of shape to bring you a minimum-weight, 350-cube, cold-air honker for less than the average nickel-nursing family sedan!

And on that family steed, you're not too likely to find behemoth front air scoopers, cold-air carb, high-overlap cam, minimum combustion chamber volume, oversized valves, low-restriction dual exhausts, or an Anti-Spin axle (to 4.66-to-1).

And if you'd like to order more, order more! New heavy-duty FE-2 suspension with front and rear stabilizers. Close- or wide-ratio 4-speeds.

Special beefed up "W" automatic with firmed-up shifts. Et cetera.

And tires? Just about every size and type that clings: wide-boot red-lines, whitewalls, raised letters, or fiberglass-belted. Up to F70 x 14".

How does the good Doc do it for so little? That's for us to know-know, and for you to find out — at your nearest Olds dealer's.
