Bombings . . .

only to be met by the second. No one was hurt.

At the bank, branch Mgr. Elmer Cone estimated the damage to plate glass windows, drapes, a fence and shrubbery at $2,000-$3,000. Apparently, five sticks of dynamite were placed under the food fence at the west end of the building, police said. However, business was conducted as usual Tuesday, according to Cone.

The blast at the Register-Guard occurred in an alley on the east side of the building, shattering six windows at a cost estimated at $200.

The Rev. H. Jenkins estimated damages at the Methodist church to be in excess of $3,000. Police said several sticks of dynamite were placed next to the south entrance, damaging a cement porch, hand-carved wooden doors, glass windows on either side of the doors and glass on the other side of the entry way.

Normal services

Jenkins, the church's pastor, said services at the 1,500-member house of worship will continue as usual.

The explosive used at Emerald Hall was placed under the flooring of the wood-frame building, causing an estimated $3,500 structural damage, according to James Henshaw, director of the University physical plant.

W. N. McLaughlin, the University business manager, estimated damage to the contents of the building at about $2,000.

He said three steel desks and two tables were damaged but repairable, two typewriter stands, a chair and two typewriters were damaged beyond repair, and a section of floor needs repalcing in the registrar's section of the building.

Margaret Blago, associate registrar, said the registrar's office will be closed today while employees from the physical plant are fixing the buckled floor. The office should reopen on Thursday, she said.

No warning

Capt. Smith said police had no advance warning of the bombing wave, other than the fact that other buildings have been bombed in the Eugene area in the last nine months, amounting to over $110,000 damage.

On Sept. 29 a series of explosions and fires caused an estimated $106,000 damage to the Eugene Naval & Marine Corps Reserve Training Center in west Eugene. Damaged were a crane, four dump trucks and two bulldozers.

On Nov. 4, an explosive set under the University's Air Force ROTC headquarters in Cherney Hall blew a hole in the first oor and knocked out part of a wall, causing $1,786 in damages.

And last Thursday, a blast apparently caused by two sticks of dynamite ripped through the rear portion of the Central Presbyterian Church, 1475 Ferry St. The cost was estimated at $3,000.

No arrests have been made in any of the explosions, and no one has been injured.
