The ASUO housing office recommends that all students living in off campus housing make an inventory list of how their apartment is furnished and a list of any damages to the apartment.

The office, which is in 302 of EMU, has inventory forms which are available for students to use. They add, that renters should have these inventories signed by the landlord at this time to protect their cleaning or damage deposits.

If you have some time, understanding and, hopefully, transportation available each week, a mentally retarded or handicapped child or young adult needs you! Please drop by the YWCA or call ext. 4439.

For information concerning applications for scholarships to cover graduate study abroad under the Fulbright program during the 1972-73 academic year, contact Mr. Ghent, 201 Emerald Hall. The deadline for submitting the applications is Oct. 20.

The Big Brother Big Sister Program is now taking applications for Fall term involvement. Those interested in being a special friend to a youngster in the community stop by the program table on the EMU terrace or call 686-4431 or 686-4439.

Due to scheduling difficulty, the Beginning and Intermediate Esperanto classes will be held on Friday, rather than Wednesday as stated in the Search Bulletin. The first class will meet Friday, Oct. 8. Books will be available for purchase at this time.

Volunteers are needed to work with patients of all ages in a nursing home situation. In addition to opportunities in visiting, crafts and games, volunteers are especially needed to play bridge, work crossword puzzles, and conduct musical activities. Male volunteers are needed to provide social and intellectual companionship for a young quadriplegic. If interested call the YWCA at ext. 4439.

Students who still wish to enroll in the Hesse seminars, TLN 2132 Sp. St. Hesse and 8066 Sem. Colloq. Hesse, may still do so by signing up in 202 Friendly or by coming to the class meeting Oct. 4 in 117 Friendly Hall.

Any foreign students with questions concerning U.S. immigration law may make an appointment with the Immigration Officer who will be on campus today. Contact the Foreign Student Office, ext. 3207, 201 Emerald Hall, for an appointment. Under a new law passed by the Oregon Legislature, all foreign students who hold foreign student scholarships will need to complete registration by today. For those with any problems meeting this date, contact the Foreign Student Office immediately.

Honors College students who want to take fall term comprehensive examinations must sign up immediately in the Honors College office in the basement of Friendly Hall.

Physics of Sound and Music (GS 214) has been expanded. Those students on the waiting list may now enroll.

There are a few openings at the Central Presbyterian Nursery School, 19th and Ferry. Children attend 3 days a week, 2 1/2 hours days, for $15 a month. For more information, call the church or 343-3865.

Recreation Folk Dancing will be held every Friday night, 8-9 p.m. for beginners; 9-10 p.m. for beginning and intermediate request dancing; 10-11:30 p.m. for general request dancing. A variety of folk dances will be taught. Everyone is welcome to teach a new dance. Contact Sue Griss, University dance department. Public is welcome and there is no charge.

Orientation occupies Senate meeting

The ASUO Senate concerned itself with the orientation of new senators, standing committees and administrative policies, in its first meeting of the year Thursday night.

Gerald Bogen, Vice President of Student Services, opened the Friday night meeting with a brief resume of his responsibilities. Bogen, who termed himself a "kind of smorgasbord man," oversees all institutions that relate to students.

OSPIRG elects new state head

In a Tuesday announcement, state OSPIRG officials in Portland have appointed Thomas Guilbert, former legal consultant to Connecticut Action Now, Inc., acting director of statewide OSPIRG. OSPIRG stands for Oregon Student Public Interest Research Group.

The state board of directors also announced two projects in the very early state of development. The first aims to find a new rate structure for public utilities that would generate revenues equal to those of the present structure.

The second is a study of advertising claims made for certain bolt-on accessories for automobiles.

ASUO President Iain More outlined his summer activities on behalf of the student body. Negotiations with state officials on tuition and discussion of budget topics were foremost in More's presentation.

Following More, each committee chairman had an opportunity to introduce himself and announce a general overview of his committees' aspirations for the academic year. Application for student positions of the committees was termed "overwhelming."

Up to 130 students have applied for committee openings.
