

On Campus

Senate meeting scheduled tonight

The ASUO Senate meets tonight at 7 p.m. in room 129 in the Law Center. The agenda of Senate business includes the ratification of the Inner-Institution of Students revised constitution, and the confirmation of appointments to Senate committees, the Hearing Panel on University Priorities, and the Student Administrative Board.

Three bills with do-pass recommendations from the Community Affairs Committee will be considered. They include a proposal that three senators conduct a 400-person random sample to gain student opinion on the proposed EMU addition, and a resolution to protest Cascade Head development at Lincoln City.

A Student Community Projects request for a transfer of $650 from the Drug Information Center account to the New Programs account will be discussed.

Jazz trios to perform Friday

An evening of jazz comes to campus Friday when Mose Allison and Kenny Burrell perform with their trios.

Both trios will perform two concerts at 7:00 and 9:30 p.m. in the EMU Ballroom, presented by the ASUO Cultural Forum.

Mose's understated, country blues has affected the styles and sensibilities of virtually all well-known white blues artists and countless others.

Kenny Burrell purchased his first guitar with $5 sent him by his older brother during World War II.

Burrell is a soft spoken man. On jazz though, he is a man of deep convictions.

"Blues, The Common Ground" is the title of one of his albums on the MGM label, which is indicative of his high regard for the blues form and of its unbroken relation to gospel music.

Tickets for the concert are $3.00 general admission and are available at the Chrystalship, the EMU Main Desk and at the door.

University Republicans meet tonight

The University Republicans Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight in the EMU "to channel people interested in party candidates to the people who will help them get involved in particular campaigns," according to club member Rob Olson.

Philosophy curriculum meeting today

There will be a meeting of all philosophy majors—undergraduates and graduates—to evaluate the curriculum as to desired priority today in the "philosophy library" 315 PLC.

Economic problems seminar set

The Department of Economics will sponsor a discussion of current Oregon fiscal problems at 3:30 p.m. today. The seminar will be held in the E.M.U. (room to be posted). The session is open to members of the University community and the general public.

Professor James Tattersall of the Department of Economics and Professor Richard Lindholm of the College of Business Administration will act as discussion leaders. Open discussion will follow a brief presentation by each. Professor Tattersall will discuss the historical background of Oregon's current fiscal crisis and some policy alternatives. Professor Lindholm will discuss aspects of property taxation, including the possible consequences of recent court decisions ruling existing local educational finance systems unconstitutional.

Astrologer to speak at Springfield Library

The Oregon Astrological Association will be sponsoring Mr. Burton Morse, well known astrologer and teacher from Balboa Peninsula, Calif. tonight, 7:30 p.m. at the Springfield Public Library. Mr. Morse is President of Research Astrologers of Los Angeles and is currently teaching at Carrol Righter's home in Hollywood. Mr. Morse's topic will be "Your Horoscope—Learning To Live With It."

Mr. Morse became interested in astrology through trying to disprove it. Also he challenged an Orange County ordinance prohibiting the teaching-practicing of astrology; was arrested, went to court and ultimately had astrology removed from the ordinance, which also included palmistry, numerology, necromancy, etc.

Mr. Morse is being sponsored by the Oregon Astrological Association, a group of serious astrologers and friends of astrologers which meets regularly.

Newcomers are always welcome. No admission is charged but a free-will offering will be taken to assist Mr. Morse in the expenses of his trip.

Graduates slate first meeting today

The Graduate Student Council will hold its first meeting for Winter Term today at 11:30 a.m. in the EMU. Room will be posted.
