

The Eugene Guerrilla Theater and the specter of death visited the Eugene Mall Thursday and sang songs of protest. The theater members marched through the mall and onto the armed forces recruiters shortly after noon.

Photo by Jerry Benterow

'Death' Players picket, perform at Mall and ROTC

Anti-war activities continued in Eugene Thursday, with the specter of death and the Eugene Guerrilla Theater making an appearance on the downtown mall at noon.

Death, a black robed figure who refused to give any name other than Death, stood on the mall with his corpse white mask and dramatized the passing out of anti-war leaflets by five people continuing the vigil there.

At noon, the guerrilla theater marched into the mall carrying signs promoting the rallies planned for last night and Saturday.

The seven players all wore army fatigues and passed out leaflets about the demonstrations.

They sang several parodies on military songs, including a rendition of the Marine's Hymn which started: "From the bloody halls of the Pentagon, to the shores of Vietnam."

After singing their songs and parading around the mall fountain, the group marched down the mall

The theater group then marched around the mall perimeter and entered the Pacific Northwest Bell lobby and passed out leaflets in other businesses, and went to the armed forces recruiting stations at 11th and Willamette.

At the recruiting stations they entered each office and distributed their leaflets and asked questions of the recruiters. One person asked a Navy recruiter how he felt each time he ordered another ship. The recruiter had no comment.

The group then came to the campus area and went into the University branch of the U.S. National Bank of Oregon. They then proceeded onto campus and sang their songs on the EMU Terrace.

In other activities Thursday, a group of about 6 people picketed the Air Force ROTC building for the second consecutive day and passed out leaflets to pedestrians and passing cars. No further plans have been announced to continue the picketing.

Beer bottle bomb found diffused

The third molotov cocktail in two days was found near a car on Alder Street across from the Air Force ROTC building early Thursday morning by Eugene Police.

An officer on patrol in the campus area spotted the small fire at 2:05 a.m. Thursday.

When he reached the scene, the fire had gone out, reports said.

A police spokesman said the molotov cocktail was a beer bottle filled with gasoline. The wick had apparently been thrown clear of the bottle and the gasoline when it landed, according to the report.

The car, owned by Kendrick Mercer, of 1774 Alder, was not seriously damaged.

Worlds Wristwrestling Championship Competition

at THE PAD

8:00 p.m., Tues., April 25

The Paddock Tavern
trophies given
to city winners.

3355 E. Amazon Drive

Europe In Summer

Charter flights to London, Amsterdam and Frankfurt
ROUND TRIP

June 1 to June 26, to London	$229
June 8 to July 9, to London	235
June 16 to Aug. 26, to London	289
June 19 to July 10, to London	249
July 18 to Aug. 24, to London	249
July 31 to Aug. 28, to London	245
Aug. 14 to Sept. 23, to London	259
Aug. 29 to Sept. 27, to Amsterdam	255

ONE WAY

July 9, Seattle to London	$160
July 25, Seattle to Amsterdam	170
Aug. 8, Seattle to Frankfurt	170
Aug. 13, Seattle to London	150
Aug. 28, Seattle to London	145
Sept. 2, Seattle to London	125

More dates are available.
For more information contact

International Education Center

319 EMU ext. 3721

FRAME PACKS

$30-$60

Rentals from $1<sup>00</sup> per wknd.

Outdoor Resource Center

Rm. 21 EMU x3089

Love
Marriage
Financial Sickness

Spiritual & Psychic
Palm Reading

SISTER DORENE

4552 Franklin Blvd.
Phone 747-4885

Fleetwood Mac Bear Trees

CHRYSTALSHIP

164 West Broadway
342-6932

Open daily until 10 p.m. including Sundays.

$375