Sailing: a good way to spend an afternoon.

Sailing, fishing

The Fern Ridge Lake and Dam (above) is located just west of Eugene and is available for sailing, swimming and fishing. Also close to Eugene are the Dexter and Lookout Point Reservoirs, east of the city.

To get to Fern Ridge, follow West 11th Avenue for about 10 miles.

For those who like to fish, Oregon has more than 15,000 miles of fishing streams and hundreds of lakes. State fish hatcheries produce 15 to 20 million trout and salmon each year. The State Game Commission plans to provide good conditions, eliminate undesirable fish populations and encourage natural fish production.
