UNIVERSITY OF OREGON — WHITEBIRD DRUG INFORMATION CENTER

The drug Information Center, initiated in the spring of 1972, provides answers to any and all questions concerning drugs and drug usage. This includes, but is not restricted to the physiological, psychological and sociological aspects of drug usage whether it be prescription, over-the-counter, or illegal street drugs. In its two terms of existence, this agency assisted individuals and groups from the University and the general community with over 120 major research projects and answered over 600 telephone calls requesting information about drugs and related topics. The Center is affiliated with Eugene's White Bird Socio-Medical Clinic and has two University professors working with it as drug consultants.

The DIC's library houses over 200 books (most of which can be checked out by individuals needing drug-related information), numerous medical articles, drug pamphlets, research data and other information organized into categories concerning the different drugs, and bibliographies prepared by the Center of all books in the Main and Science Libraries at the University and in Eugene bookstores which pertain to drugs. In addition, the DIC has access to all books in Sacred Heart General Hospital's Medical and Doctor's Library, and is tied into the MEDLARS computer system, a world-wide data bank that collects all medical and medical research information.

The Drug Information Center has initiated a Drug Analysis Project that took effect on July 27, 1972. It is a free, anonymous service to the people of Lane County whereby an individual may have an illegal street drug analyzed and obtain the results of this testing either through the Drug Information Center or local news media channels.

Finally, starting in Fall term, 1972, the DIC is presenting a University accredited course (Health 409) on the Psychoactive Drugs. The class is being offered every Thursday night, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in 138 Commonwealth Building. Individuals attending this class will be treated to some of the most knowledgeable and renowned experts in the Psychoactive Drug field. The class is open to all interested individuals from the community as well as students and faculty at the University. The class and guest speakers are being publicized through community media channels so that all who are interested may attend.

The Drug Information Center has a staff of 20, and is open from 9 to 9 Monday through Friday, and 12 to 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. A good number of books and files may be checked out by individuals, either from the University or community and we are located in rm. 12, in the basement of the Erb Memorial Student Union on the University of Oregon Campus.
